Dora Abrams

DORA ABRAMS

"Dora"

This young lady with the dark bobbed hair and dancing eyes is our Dora. She is known for her carefree, happy disposition. Dora's scholastic standing has always been good and she has found ample time to attend all school activities. It will be a sad day when Dora leaves E. G. A.

Glee Club, (1), (4); Crimson Board, (4); Class Basketball, (4); Motto Committee, (4); Class Prophecy, (4).

Helen Anderson

HELEN CHRISTINE ANDERSON

"Helen"

Helen is one of the clever and attractive members of our class and obtains good marks in all her subjects. Her sincerity and depth of character are qualities appreciated by her large number of friends. She is one of the most lively and fun-loving young ladies of the class. With our voluble Bringue in the Senior Play what a combination they should make!

Glee Club, (1); Crimson Board, (1), (3), (4); Vice-President, (1), (3); Senior Basketball; Senior Play; Salutatorian.

"Bugs"

RICHARD SILVA BEETLE

"Bugs"

"A man's past lives after him." "Bugs" is the most cheerful young fellow that ever came to E. G. A. He finds a laugh in everything and puts one in too. His foolish antics have disturbed the scholarly calm of many a classroom, to the evident vexation of his teachers. The memory of this famous Beetle will live long at the Winsor.

Basketball, (4); Baseball, (3), (4).

JOSEPH FRANCIS BRINGUE

"Joe" or "Pepito"

"Joe" came to us in his Sophomore year from Jacksonville, Fla., where he is doubtless missed a great deal. "Pepito" is full of vim, vigor, and vitality. He is a shining star at French Club where he converses very brilliantly. As for Latin, his translations of Virgil are most interesting and original. Watch his ability in the tenderer sentiments of the Senior Play.

RUTH HOWLAND BROWN

"Ruth"

Ruth is one of the most valuable members of her class. She always has a smiling face and a funny story. Ruth has taken an active part in all class work and with her easy manner has won many friends. Look out for the scornful mien and pointing finger of her Lady Crackenthorpe!

Ruth Howland Brown

HOWARD ALFRED ERICSON

"Erie"

"Erie" is one of those boys who is always smiling and full of fun. He is seen most everywhere with his pal "Flint." Howard is a very valuable member of the class, having been treasurer for two years. He most certainly knows how to handle money. His future is undecided, although we surmise a business career.

Glee Club, (1), (4); Class Treasurer, (2), (3); Senior Play; Crimson Board, (4).

DANIEL FREITAS

"Sheik"

Probably you have noticed on our fair campus a quiet and hard-working young man. Upon inquiring you would find him to be Daniel or "Sheik" who hails from Bristol. He has been with us four years during which time his cordial spirit has won him many friends. Because of his adaptability we know that Daniel will meet with success in whatever he attempts.

Treasurer, (1); French Club, (4); Glee Club, (1); Football, (3), (4).

DOROTHY EVELYN FRY

"Dot"

The class of '28 has the honor of counting among its members the one and only Dorothy Fry. During her four years at E. G. A. she has proved herself an excellent student. It has seemed to the Virgil class that it could not get along without her ever-ready assistance. Almost every time the High Honor Roll has appeared, her name has headed the list. Dot is not really as austere as it would seem, for in spite of her taking studying seriously, she finds plenty of time for a little fun-making.

Class Secretary, (3); French Club, (3), (4); Glee Club, (1); Honor Shield, (2), (3); Valedictorian.

LILLIAN ROSE HALSBAND

"Lil"

Lil joined the student body four years ago and has been happy ever since. She has attended all the social and athletic functions, bringing a carload of friends. Lil is always ready with a helping hand and a cheery word. She must believe that "a stitch in time saves nine" for we have seen her more than once applying needle and thread to a torn garment. We predict a future in costuming for her.

Glee Club, (1); Senior Play Committee; Senior Basketball; Motto Committee; Class Historian.

ELSIE CELIA JOHNSON

"Elsie"

Elsie is quiet, gentle, and considerate of others. She has used her powers of concentration to good advantage on her studies. After a valiant search for one to play the part of the gracious Germaine in the operetta, Elsie was found to fit that rôle. Although Elsie has not attended many of the school socials, she has always been ready to share the responsibility of the work. Elsie plans to enter upon a business career.

Glee Club, (1), (4); Crimson Board, (4).

Elsie Johnson

ELSIE ROMAINE JONES

"Rusty"

Who is that way down the street? Ah, it must be Elsie of the auburn locks. She is one of the most attractive young ladies of our class. Elsie showed her pluck when she chose "Solid" and "Trig" as a part of her course of study. She is always present at school socials and apparently enjoys herself. Elsie is planning to enter Pembroke next fall.

Crimson Board, (1), (3), (4); Glee Club, (1), (4); Vice-President, (2); Secretary, (4); Senior Play; French Club, (3), (4).

HARRY REYNOLDS LEWIS, JR.

"Jun"

"Jun" is studious, athletic, and brimful of fun, an all around good fellow. Our class would not be complete without Harry—That he is popular has been manifested by the fact that he was elected class president. He is also quite a favorite among those of the opposite sex. The college which "Jun" enters will be a very fortunate one.

Class President, (1), (4); Crimson Board, (2), (3), (4); Senior Play; Manager of Basketball, (4); Football, (2), (3), (4).

MIRIAM ELEONORA NORDBERG

"Miriam"

Malden High School (Mass.) certainly lost a very fine student when Miriam left for the Academy in her Sophomore year. She is very quiet but every once in a while she breaks into the conversation with one of her unexpected witticisms. Miriam is undecided as to the college she will attend next year, but we are sure from the high marks she has attained while in our midst that she will meet with success.

Crimson Board (Literary-Editor), (4); Class Poet.

PAUL AUGUSTUS PIERCE

"Flint"

This young man plays Damon to the Pythias "Erie" and we should judge a jolly, good companion he makes. With his happy-go-lucky nature and sparkling wit, he is a valuable addition to any party. Paul expects to defend the honor of the Class by entering the Tennis Tournament. He may enter Brown University to further his educational career.

Class President, (2), (3); Glee Club, (1); Crimson Board, (3), (4); French Club, (4).

Paul Pierce '25

DANIEL PODRAT

"Dan"

Let us introduce the ever-present, ever-arguing Daniel Podrat. This is the lad who is always known for his sweet voice. With great skill along this line, Dan has contributed many interesting points to the debates in Senior English, although in his position he might feel like Daniel in the Lion's Den. One of his favorite discussions: "Is woman superior to man?" He ought to know! Dan plans to attend the Rhode Island State College.

IDA ELIZABETH SHEARMAN

"Ida"

Ida has been with us four years and comes daily from the wilds of Frenchtown to our noble halls of learning. As the years have rolled by, her genial disposition has won its way into our hearts and she is too rare a friend to lose! She is a quiet, likeable girl, who is ever willing to aid a worthy cause.

Glee Club, (1); French Club, (4).

RUDOLPH HAMILTON SWANSON

"Rudie"

"Rudie" decided he would further prepare himself for college, by attending our celebrated Academy for a year. Rudolph is one of the most popular fellows about school and anyone is certain to have a pleasant time if he is in the party. He will enter Brown University next fall—Who can tell but perhaps he will some day surprise us by publishing a few of his clever poems!

Crimson Board, (Editor-in-Chief); Senior Play; Class Treasurer; Glee Club; Baseball.

ANNIE FRANCES THOMAS

"Annie"

The class could not get along without Annie's helpful suggestions in its varied activities. She is always willing to assist in driving away "the blues." Annie was one of the "peppy" Forwards of the Senior Basketball Squad and tried to uphold the good name of the team. Some business school will probably train Annie for her future.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1928

September, 1924, saw the members of the Class of 1928 hurrying about in search of their various classrooms. We soon became accustomed to our new surroundings, although the Seniors attempted to make us feel miserable by prescribing bright green ribbons to be worn by the girls, and green and white skull caps for the boys.

Our first duty was to elect officers. Miss Ethel A. Pentecost was selected Faculty Adviser and Harry R. Lewis, Jr., became our first President; Helen Anderson was chosen Vice-President; Ruth H. Brown, Secretary, and Daniel Freitas, Treasurer.

One Saturday in May, we made a trip to Providence and attended the Albee Theatre, in order to see the picture "Romola." After the presentation, the class went to the Dreyfus Hotel for dinner.

The class reorganized the next year with Miss Mary E. Hume and Mr. Charles D. Newbegin, as Faculty Advisers. The following officers were chosen:—Paul Pierce, President; Elsie Jones, Vice-President; Lillian Pharnes, Secretary; Howard Ericson, Treasurer.

In the fall of our Sophomore year a social for the entire school was given in the gymnasium. No other class activity took place before March, at which time we went to the Providence Opera House to see the musical comedy: "No, No, Nanette." The final event of this year was the presentation of a picture at the Star Theatre.

In September, 1926, Paul Pierce and Howard Ericson resumed the duties which they had taken up the previous year. Helen Anderson was Vice-President and Dorothy

Fry, Secretary. Miss Marjorie McClure and Mr. Claude Farwell became our Advisers.

In the fall a Food Sale and the motion picture "Laddie" were successfully given. Early in the second semester the Juniors and their friends started the season with a ride to Narragansett Pier.

Our Senior Year commenced with Miss Joanna Falconer and Mr. Parker Williams, as Advisers, and the following cabinet:—Harry R. Lewis, Jr., President; Ruth H. Brown, Vice-President; Elsie Jones, Secretary; Rudolph Swanson, Treasurer.

This year a program of dances for the school body has been carried out, being held in the gymnasium. Some of the Seniors have done their part to make them successful.

In order to add to our treasury, two Food Sales were also held at Bickford's Restaurant.

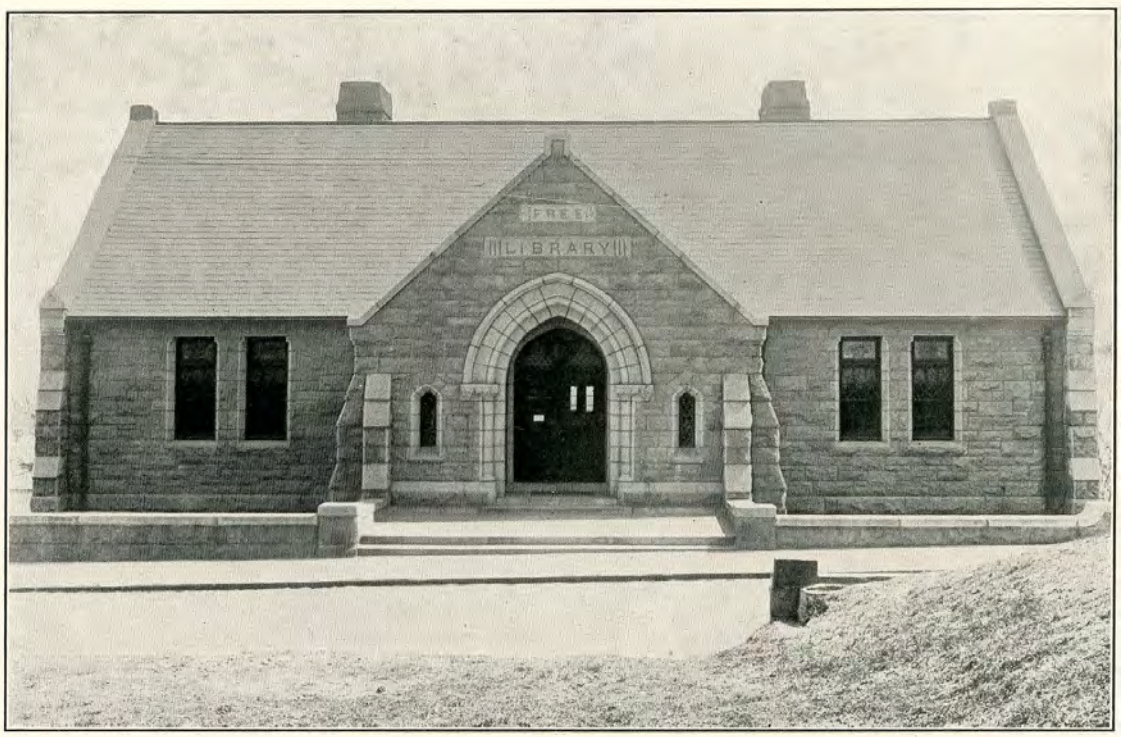

The Class is now practicing for the Senior play, entitled, "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy."

To our Class Advisers and the other members of the Faculty, we are greatly indebted for the splendid help they have given the Class of 1928.

As we look back over the years which we have spent at E. G. A., we realize that they have been happy and very much worthwhile. We shall always remember "happy days at E. G. A."

DOROTHY FRY,

IDA SHEARMAN.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1929

The Class of 1929 started its career at E. G. A. with Miss Pentecost and Mr. Woodworth as class advisers. Harold Shogren was elected President; Mary Swain, Vice-President; Dorothy Appleton, Secretary; and Frederick Lenz, Treasurer.

During our first year we gave a social, which was very enjoyable. This was held in the gymnasium. The only other event of this term was a picnic. These affairs were made successful by the willing aid of our advisers.

The year '25 and '26 Mrs. Schulmaier and Mr. Woodworth were chosen as Faculty Advisers. The following were elected officers: Hudson Eldredge, President; Frances Brown, Vice-President; Dorothy Appleton, Secretary; Frederick Lenz, Treasurer.

During the year Dorothy Appleton and Hudson Eldredge left school, and Frederick Lenz became President, Caroline Lincoln, Secretary; and Elizabeth Eldredge, Treasurer.

As for activities: A pleasure trip was taken to Saunderstown; there we all gathered to enjoy an evening of games and other amusements. Later the class gave a social in the gymnasium, and invited the entire school.

In June, the school term closed and we all parted, but only to come back in September and reorganize. James Walters was chosen President; Marion Vaughn, Vice-President; Etta Fogel, Secretary; Earl Ricker, Treasurer. Miss Frary and Mr. Gould were elected as our Class Advisers.

The first activity was an auction, held in the gymnasium. We have had no class parties, but have joined in those given by the school.

We extend the hope that all our classmates will return next fall for the last and busiest year of our course and that we all will do our share to make it the best and most pleasant of our four terms at E. G. A.

MARION VAUGHN.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1930

On September 15, 1926, our class was organized. Harold Shogren was elected President; Edna Lindberg, Vice-President; Ruth Silverman, Secretary; and Norman Lingren, Treasurer. The class was very ambitious; the first sign of their school spirit was a dance at Narragansett Pier. Students from other classes were invited and the dance proved a success.

Class meetings were held every two weeks and most of our money came from dues. Some of this was used for an entertainment that the class gave just before the Thanksgiving Vacation. There were a goodly number in attendance. After the serving of refreshments, all gathered around the piano and sang Alma Mater, in this manner ending a pleasant social hour.

Wednesday, September 12, 1927, began our second school year. A meeting was held and officers were elected:—Jack Warner, President; Gladys Jones, Vice-President; Barbara Jones, Secretary; and Harmon Smith, Treasurer. School had not progressed very far when Jack Warner, the President, left our midst. A meeting was called and Gladys Jones occupied the place thus left vacant. Not long afterwards Harmon Smith also left school and Beatrice Ricker was elected to his office.

Later in the winter the class voted for a dance after the Christmas vacation. It was given February 22nd in the school gymnasium. A large majority of students were present and the affair was a success.

The Sophomores are anticipating two more happy years at E. G. A., which will in future times bring back to them memories of the activities enjoyed there.

BARBARA JONES,
BARBARA LENZ.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1931

On September 11th, 1927, the East Greenwich Academy once more opened its doors to welcome both the returning students and the new class of 1931.

As soon as possible the Freshmen held a class meeting for the election of officers, with the following results:—Vincent McGraw, President; Kathryn Brown, Vice-President; Lillian Peterson, Secretary; Frank Boothroyd, Treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Schulmaier were chosen as advisers. At a later meeting Vincent McGraw resigned the Presidency, giving place to Kathryn Brown. John Potter was chosen Vice-President.

As special Freshman privileges, we were allowed to part our hair in the middle. We were also allowed to adorn our beauty with green ties that were so loud they echoed.

The yearly events of our class were, first, a social in the Gymnasium, which was a complete success. This was followed by a lecture in the Chapel, that turned out nicely, financially as well as socially. The Freshman class has ended a very prosperous and enjoyable year. We wish to express our heartiest thanks to our advisers and the rest of the Faculty who have helped in piloting our class through the first year of its High School career.

KENNETH MACLEAN.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais came into being in the fall of 1926 at the suggestion and through the efforts of Miss Joanna Falconer, the instructor in the French department.

This year Le Cercle Francais was reorganized with Miss Falconer as Adviser and the class in French III, as original members. The following officers were elected:—Betty Meader, President; Nathan Gilman, Treasurer; Dorothy Fry, Secretary. We are sorry that through necessity, our President transferred to the Lincoln School, Providence. As there was no Vice-President, Joseph Bringue was chosen to take her place.

Meetings were held once every month. A Christmas Party took place in the gymnasium of the Eastman Dormitory and eleven new members were invited into Le Cercle. They were those students from the class in French II, who had an average of eighty. We wonder how Caroline and Elizabeth enjoyed blackening their noses by pushing pennies along the floor! We would not advise this as a life career.

Our next "réunion du soir" came near Valentine's Day. The little "gym" looked very cheerful with its decorations of crêpe paper and bright red hearts. Everyone had a good time and when refreshments were served, we learned that Mr. Gilman prefers large sandwiches.

Another meeting was held around the fireplace in the dining-room. Nearly every member recited a proverb in French and later several games were played. We had planned to roast "hot dogs" in the fireplace, but so much smoke came into the room that we let the fire die and had refreshments in the kitchen. Then Mr. Burr discovered that it is not always safe to trust one's eyes alone, for his teeth revealed that his frankfurt was nothing but red rubber beautifully decorated with mustard.

To Miss Falconer, we are very grateful for her earnest efforts which made Le Cercle Francais both enjoyable and helpful. Like the members of last year, we hope that it may be continued in the years to come.

The football season of 1927 opened with almost every natural circumstance against us. The strength of last year's had graduated and only two letter men remained.

Moreover, a new coach was obliged to make his debut into our athletic program. He had a squad of green men to face a very much unbalanced and vigorous schedule. Unfortunately, our first game was one of the most strenuous, and although we lost, every man played a hard game.

From the standpoint of clean playing and good sportsmanship, the season was a reasonably successful one. The strength of our team was concentrated in Captain D'Attore, who always played a brilliant game. Howard Allen had the habit of intercepting forward passes and springing surprise touchdowns. Gilman, the quarterback, could thwart the enemy's most skilled ends. The line, which consisted of unskilled but willing men, furnished at times a stonewall resistance. Too much credit cannot be given to Harry Lewis, who was the bulwark of defense on the line.

THE LINE-UP

Lewis, F. Smith	Left Tackle

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Rarely does a small school boast of more basketball genius than we discovered in our midst when Coach Williams called out the squad after Thanksgiving, 1927. Gilman, Cachemaille, Bringue, Beetle and Doane, had all been seasoned. To these were added some hard-working aspirants in the persons of Shogren and Walters.

We had a successful season, thanks to the coaching of Mr. Williams and the high scoring of Captain Gilman and Cachemaille. We did not lose a home game. We baffled such teams as La Salle and the Rhode Island School of Design, which had not been defeated on our floor in the past eight years. Gilman and Cachemaille were usually the stars. Beetle, although this was his first year at center, played splendid games. Doane and Bringue were steady and brilliant defensive players.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' basketball squad was called out early after Thanksgiving and about thirty-five girls responded. All of last year's team but one returned, also, most of the substitutes. New material gave promise of a good line-up. With Mr. Davis for coach and Miss Frary for manager, we looked forward to a successful year. Just before Christmas we opened our season by playing Howard Seminary on our own floor. The teams were well matched, making the game exciting, although the visiting team won by one point.

The next struggle was with the school's old rival—Warwick High. This interesting battle was held in the gymnasium at Apponaug, where the E. G. A. girls, by clean, fast playing, won the game with final scores of 28 to 24.

Hard luck followed this victory. The team suffered two defeats at the hands of North Kingstown, and two more, one each at the hands of Howard Seminary and New Bedford High. Most of the scores were close, however, and the girls played good, fast games.

It was then our turn to defeat the superior New Bedford team. We lost our return game with Warwick soon after, with the score of 20 to 23. Both the boys' and girls' teams of Warwick and E. G. A. had broken evenly. After much discussion it was decided to play the rubbers. The Warwick team emerged with the victory, although our girls fought to the finish.

The Glee Club was organized in September under the leadership of Miss Frary, for the purpose of offering some opportunity for musical enjoyment to those boys and girls who like to sing.

In November, rehearsals were begun on the light opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," by Planquette. This opera was produced the 4th and 5th of May, under the stage direction of Mr. Gould. Fred Lenz acted as stage manager, Olivette Miller as costume manager, and Annie Thomas as publicity manager.

JUNIOR SCHOOL NOTES

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe,
She had so many children she didn't know what to do."

The teachers of the Junior School, who also serve as housemothers, (must) sympathize most heartily with the poor old lady mentioned above.

Under their supervision, there are twenty-nine exuberant lads and lassies, six of whom are "day" students and the remaining twenty-three boarding students.

Of course in school they are taught that America was discovered in 1812? and the Fourth of July comes on the nineteenth of April?

Athletics? Do they shine! We'll say they do! The rest of the school hasn't much on them when it comes to a good basketball or football team. Just give them a chance and they'll show the nearby world what they can do with baseball. Go to it boys! Show us some more "pep"!

Have you heard about the "bow wows" toasted along with your fingers over a fire 'neath Sunset Rock? Who says ladies can't build a good bonfire with one match. Ask Wesley—he knows!

By the way—do you know that Waltham is actually on the map? The schoolroom was scarcely able to hold Doris when she discovered that fact. She nearly flapped her wings and flew. If East Greenwich had been found also, perhaps the whole Junior School would have exploded.

With such jocular little events, interrupting its orderly routine, the Junior School has had a very happy and successful year.

EASTMAN NOTES

This dormitory contains the fairest inhabitants of the Academy and also claims the distinction of having Rev. and Mrs. Schulmaier as its first floor occupants.

Ascending to the second floor we find a very popular person, Mrs. Scott, who is a favorite because of her appetizing menus and jolly disposition.

A certain cozy room belongs to Miss Sylvester. Though she has been with us only a short time, she has won a place in our hearts through her pleasant nature.

Miss Tuttle, a junior school teacher, also lives on this floor. Although we do not have the opportunity of knowing her well, we admire her ability in managing her charges.

We must not leave this floor before visiting Doris and June, who are roommates. They disagree on only one point and that is, who is to clean the room.

Let's go to the room of our beloved Dean, Miss Falconer. She's keeping that bear on the floor to see how long it will take the Eastman girls to wear it out. We believe that she would be a very successful bacteriologist, because she is so very efficient in finding minute dust particles in forgotten places.

"Bee" Ricker, who lives next door, is best known for her array of jewelry taken from members of the opposite sex. Her roommate, Frances Crandon, is "Mudder" to the little girls. We all feel that Frances deserves a golden crown for her wonderful work at E. G. A.

Annabelle Lee and our baby, "Jackie Rabbit," the pet, are real sisters as they quarrel very rarely and of course that is very unusual.

Who is that talking so loudly? Oh, that is Juneesse, who is asking if she "can" come out of her room, now.

This very feminine room belongs to Pearl Gove, from whose name you never would guess it, is a real tomboy. She has been practicing on the "twins" all year and seems to be successful in her original attacks.

The art gallery belongs to our remarkable "twins." They are musically and also athletically inclined. E. G. A. would be lost without them, we're sure.

EASTMAN NOTES—Continued.

Let me show you the orderly room of two attractive freshmen, "Kay" Brown and Doris Wade. Of course you can't hold their attractiveness against them. Oh! Here they are now! You'll agree they make one inclined to believe in coeducation.

Oh! Oh! meet Miss Sophistication falling upstairs. This is Miss Helen Chisholm of course; she is brilliant and attractive, too. We all see success ahead for her. Ship-ahoy, Helen, M. D. ahead.

Sh! Sh! Miss Davis has this room at the head of the stairs and mustn't be disturbed. You see, she's writing blank verse on love.

That beautiful melody is being played by Miss Frary. Let's visit her. Wouldn't you know that this pretty room belonged to an enthusiastic fiancee?

Let's call on "Betty" Hicks who appears very quiet, but beware, she is quite the contrary. As advice to strangers, don't take her too literally.

Oh dear, we're in the wrong room. This one belongs to Olivette Miller. You know she is Broadway itself. She's a firm believer in the supernatural and relies on that beautiful golden harp for her entrance into Paradise.

Who is knocking? One might know, it is Pearl Brewster. She's a good scout even though she's noisy. You see she's escaping from the scally-wagging tongue of that ready debater, Thelma Shorey. If anyone wants help or advice, they always go to Thelma. (As she fears to appear too bold, let it be understood that this last was written by someone other than herself.)

The Three Musketeers	Caroline, Frances, Elizabeth

WINSOR NOTES

On the hills of East Greenwich, directly across from the Public Library, stands a magnificent work of architecture known as the Winsor Dorm. With the kind permission of its inmates we now take you on a tour through its spacious corridors.

As we enter the main door—or the only door—the first room on the left is occupied by Prof. Williams, the big candy man from New Jersey, where the mosquitoes are citizens. He is the teacher of all commercial subjects and also finds time to coach the athletic teams at this institution of learning.

After leaving room one, we come to room two—quite naturally, where John Potter, the original heart-breaker studies his art. John can be found most any time standing in front of the post-office looking for another victim.

After knocking about a dozen times you may be admitted to the next room where His Royal Highness, Lloyd T. King abides in peace among numerous dime novels, pictures, and harmonicas.

With many regrets we leave room three and enter the next spacious apartment, where James Graham spends his nights. He is taking a special course in cooking and will some time be a real help for a lazy wife. Girls, keep your eyes open!

Following the "call of the Wild and Wooly," we muster our courage and push open the door of room five where Raymond Marks, our delegation from Warren tells bed-time stories to the better half of the firm, "Red" Gray, who is a rather quiet and likeable fellow. Marks may some day be a great baseball player—you never can tell!

At the door of room six we are greeted with a friendly smile by Mr. Song, a quiet and industrious fellow from Korea.

Hearing a noise in room seven we decide to investigate and find Fred Smith doing all sorts of dances. His movement—if not like the proverbial Elgin of which we have all heard so much—is like his own and he should make a name for himself on the stage.

WINDSOR NOTES—Continued.

In room eight Fred Theise, our one man track team, and Nathan Hale Sutley Gilman, may be found writing letters to their many lady friends at most hours of the day or night. Gilman played on the football and basketball teams and if he is not heard about as a pitcher of note as well as a star tennis player, it will not be his fault.

In the next room we are met by our Senior master and Math. teacher, Mr. Woodworth, who also is said to know something about gymnastics and horses. It won't be long now?

As the dumb-waiter is out of order we are compelled to walk up the stairs. In the first room we come to, Mr. Durgin of last year's class, who as the Caretaker and Mailman, reigns supreme.

Rounding a dangerous curve, we enter the dominion of Louis Garcia, a man's man from Mexico. When it comes to the weaker sex, Garcia sure has "it." His roommate Tom Cashman is a living candidate for the "Speed Corp." His greatest ambition is to be a second Lindbergh. "Good luck Tom, and don't forget to take your parachute."

The newest member of the Royal Order of Winsorites is a quiet and friendly chap from Peru. Although we have not known Charley Ponce very long, we all like him very much.

Answering an S. O. S. call from the next room we find Enrique Cachemaille in desperate straits. We do not know just what the matter is but upon inquiry we find that he is broke. "Too much bowling, 'Rickey!' "

Hearing an unearthly noise proceeding from the next room, we leave friend "Rickey" to his woes, and enter the adjacent room where we find Joe Bringue playing the violin and yodeling love songs to everyone in general. "Keep it up Joe, you're doing fine." Richard "Bugs" Beetle, his roommate, is the quietest boy in the building. He has a strong liking for large rocks which he uses for foot-warmers and even takes them to bed with him.

Across the corridor from this room resides our English teacher Prof. Gould, who hails from Canada. He is a good scout despite this fact, and is well liked by every one.

A few detours will eventually lead you to a large room where at sometime of the day you will find James "Sheik" Walters, our best bet musician and a very popular fellow, especially with the opposite sex. If he ever remained here over a week-end he would have epileptic fits.

Next door to our friend Jimmy, is the palatial though small resting place of Daniel Freitas, Headwaiter, Fireman, and Gentleman of Leisure. He is a genuine self-made sheik and a regular DX fan. What he doesn't get on the radio isn't worth getting.

Next we come to the abode of Senor Frederick Intriago, a gay gentleman from Ecuador, S. A. He is the boon companion of Theise and Gilman and is one of a popular trio.

Climbing still another flight of stairs we arrive on the third floor, where we are met with a lofty grin from "Shorty" Sherwood, a six-foot-one from Block Island, where the lonely Whifflebird sings each night to his long lost love. "Shorty" is trying for first base assignment on the baseball team. "Good luck, Cicero, you will need it."

Last, but not least, is Sherwood's illustrious roommate, Mr. Roberts Burr, who supervises the recreation, etc., of the Junior School Boys when he is not busy with his Latin or pounding hymns out of the piano.

WE WONDER

When King won't be hungry.
When Mazie will spring a new joke.
When Dorothy Fry will flunk.
When Frances won't be late.

Prof. Williams to Ericson: "You'd better pay attention and stop your fooling. Last quarter you slid out on the back of your neck and there's no telling what you'll slide out on next time."

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF?

The girls didn't have to have a chaperon.
They forgot to have detention.
We didn't have Mid-years.
Garcia forgot to ring the rising bell.
Rhoda Williams lost her tongue.
There wasn't choir rehearsal for some people.

Shogren: "Did you get excited when you fell through the ice?"

Ericson: "No, I felt perfectly cool."

Prof. Williams: "What does the public receive in return for the taxes they pay?"

Theise: "A receipt."

Heard from the platform: "This man is really more remarkable than he looks."

Prof. Woodworth: "Do you know why I flunked you?"

Student: "I haven't an idea."

Woodworth: "Correct."

Edna Lindburg: "What do you think of my new fur?"

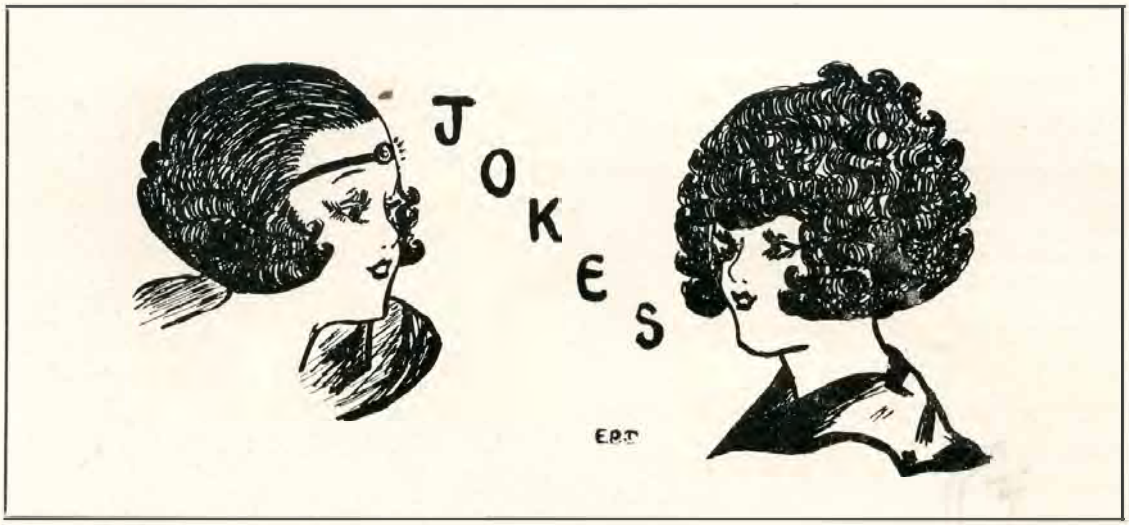

Mildred Algren: "It's the Cat's, dearie."

Prof. Gould: "Do you know Shakespeare well?"

Podrat: "G'wan, you can't kid me, Shakespeare's dead."

Beetle: "What's an operetta?"

Fred Smith: "Don't be foolish—it's a girl who works for the telephone company."

Gilman: "What are you running for?"

Potter: "There's a circus in town and a lion has broke loose."

Gilman: "Which way did he go?"

Potter: "Well, you don't suppose I'm chasin' him do you?"

Prof: "What did you learn about the salivary glands?"

Girl: "I couldn't find out a thing Professor, they are so secretive."

Sherwood: "What's your name?"

Graham: "Graham."

Sherwood: "Oh, so your another one of those wise crackers."

Tireless Shopper: "Thanks for showing me all these silks, but I'm not buying for myself. I was just looking for a neighbor."

Weary Shopgirl: "Do you think that she could be in that one bolt of mauve that I haven't shown you?"

Captain: "What is he charged with, Casey?"

Officer: "I don't know the regular name for it, Captain; but I caught him a-flirting in the park."

Captain: "Ah, that's impersonating an officer."

Nurse: "Mr. Maloney, you are the father of quadruplets."

Maloney: "What? Thim things that be runnin' around on four legs!"

Gob: "I just saw a young sailor trying to kiss your daughter."

Pop: "Did he succeed?"

Gob: "No."

Pop: "That wasn't my daughter."

Willie: "Pa, what's a parasite?"

Pa: "A parasite, son, is a man who walks through a revolving door without doing his share of the pushing."

She: "Of course I love you."

Holdup-man Lover: "Well, just say the word and anything you see is yours."

"The storm burst upon us so suddenly that we had no warning of its approach," said the tornado victim, relating his experience to a friend. "In an instant the house was demolished and scattered to the four winds. How I escaped being torn to pieces I do not know. We—"

"G-good gracious!" said Mr. Meeke, jumping to his feet. "That reminds me, I almost forgot to post a letter for my wife."

Boston University

THERE'S a Reason Why Boston University in 59 years has become the largest University in New England, with a present student enrollment of 13,000 representing every State in the Union and 27 foreign countries.

Reason No. 1—High scholastic and moral ideals, plus "spirit" and purpose.

Reason No. 2—Great teachers. "Who's Who in America" contains the names of 63 members of the Staff of Instruction at the present time.

Reason No. 3.—Location in the heart of America's greatest cultural center, with intellectual stimulus coming from historical and literary associations.

Reason No. 4—Varied educational opportunities offered by the nine Colleges and Schools composing the University: College of Liberal Arts, College of Business Administration, College of Practical Arts and Letters, School of Theology, School of Law, School of Medicine, School of Education, School of Religious Education and Social Service, Graduate School.

Reason No. 5—Successful and distinguished alumni. For example: (a) Graduates from the School of Theology include progressive leaders in church work around the world; one-fifth of the "greatest preachers" in America; fifteen Bishops, etc. (b) Graduates from the School of Law include U. S. Senators, Governors, Chief Justices, 122 Judges, etc. Similar illustrations could be given from all other Departments. Is it not significant that 43 College and University Presidents of today are graduates of Boston University,—more than from any other institution in the world.

Verily, There's a Reason why serious-minded students are interested in Boston University.
