Senior History

INITIATION! Grotesque . . . fantastic . . . strange . . . ridiculous . . . ugly. We are now spending our opening days at E. G. A. Some of us put on our boldest front and took it all as best we could—as a joke, but many of us simply prayed that we wouldn't be recognized by our "better friends" behind all our paint and masquerade. After being duly initiated into full-pledged underclassmen, we decided upon the following officers to guide us through our Freshman year.

President .....Albert Dunbar
Vice President .....Trina Grieg
Secretary ..... Phoebe Browning
Treasurer .....Margery Perry

For class advisers we elected the ever-competent Miss Giles and Mr. Allen.

The first activity that we presented, which started a four year successful program, was a Shuffle-board party—a novelty for the school, and it proved most interesting.

Later in the year we Freshmen had a picnic at which many of our "kid tricks" came to the front, but we soon put these away as "childish things" for we were Sophomores now.

The class officers we elected:

President .....Inez Portaluppi
Vice President .....Elizabeth Rice
Secretary .....Daphne Gammons
Treasurer .....Priscilla Maine

Miss Bolan and Mr. Lelacheur were selected to lead us during our Sophomore year.

On November 10, 1937, we presented our first dance which proved more than a success. With splendid decorations and a magnificent orchestra, it was an evening not soon forgotten. Such was our feeling of achievement that on February 12, 1938, we gave a St. Valentine's Dance which also brought the acclaim of all who attended.

Thus we ended our Sophomore year and were ready to take our places as Juniors.

Our officers for the year were:

President .....Gloria Precourt
Vice President .....Angel Mazorra
Secretary .....Dorothy Nicholson
Treasurer .....Priscilla Maine

Due to a hurricane—does it re-awaken poignant memories—we gave as our first dance the "Hurricane Finale." Only the decorations could substitute that fact, for the dancers glided smoothly to the gentle strains of an excellent orchestra.

Our next contribution was the Junior Play, "Pygmalion and Galatea," on March 10, 1939. The result was a production that not many will forget. It was even enhanced by the unique sound effects worked out by Sherwood Raymond. We must also give credit to Arthur Yeates, Phoebe Browning, Ruth Krans, Catherine Rhodes, Paul Kenner, Donald Durfee, Inez Portaluppi, Charles Bryant, and Sherwood Raymond for putting on a magnificent performance. Much credit is due Mr. Taylor, whose patient instruction helped make the play an entertaining one.

On April 14, 1939, we gave a Spring Dance—it really was Spring at that time this particular year—believe it or not. With both excellent decorations and orchestra, we again had a gala affair.

At last our extravaganza for the year—the Junior Prom. For a decorative theme we chose an exotic South Sea atmosphere, complete with monkeys and parrots in the palm trees. Dancing in this setting, beneath twinkling stars and a tropical moon, to the smooth strains of guitars and mandolins made us forget we were still at E. G. A. This Junior Prom was undoubtedly the best ever held at the Academy. The future classes will have to aim high to parallel it. This ended our duties as Juniors.

ACTIVITIES

SCENE FROM "CHIMES OF NORMANDY"

Music Department

MUSIC plays a great part in the activities of our school: therefore, we have striven this year to present music to the students in an enjoyable, beneficial, and educational manner. It has been under the competent leadership of Miss Ruth A. Williams that the Music Department this year has reached new heights.

The Girls' Glee Club was organized early in October, with Phoebe Browning as accompanist. Their first accomplishment was the singing of the hymn "Finlandia" in the chapel service for the observance of Thanksgiving. It added much to our service and was very effectively presented.

Soon after the Girls' Glee Club had settled themselves for the weekly Monday rehearsal, the Boys' Glee Club was organized. It included many of last year's members and many new aspirants. Although they did not present anything publicly, we realized at Christmas time that much time and effort had been put into their rehearsals.

Besides our two Glee Clubs, a Chapel Choir was organized early in the year, consisting of fourteen selected voices composed of both students and instructors. This choir has many times added a pleasant note to our chapel services.

The annual Christmas concert, held on the Sunday afternoon of December 17th was one of the most effective programs of the year. Both the Boys' and the Girls' Glee Clubs, the Chapel Choir with Dorothy Oakes as soloist, and our two guest performers Miss Myrtle Bowlin, soprano soloist and Mr. Richard Johns, violinist, both from Quincy, Mass., gave a completeness and depth to the program which was well received by all.

As soon as the Christmas festivities were over, the two Glee Clubs joined forces for the annual operetta. This year, after much discussion and searching, we decided on "The Chimes of Normandy." Tryouts were held and Phoebe Browning, Brayton White, Jill Miner, Catherine Rhodes, Marion Anderson, Edward Duro, Preston Bent, and Edwin Lewis were chosen as the leads, with Barbara Lineham as accompanist. Due to the untiring efforts of both Miss Williams and the cast, this operetta, as the operettas before it, proved to be a great success.

The Riding Club

THE Riding Club, under the guidance of Dean Rudolph H. Swanson, had its first meeting in September. At this meeting the following officers were elected:

President..... Phoebe Browning
Vice President.....Rosalind Raab
Secretary-Treasurer .....Janice Harred

With the excellent instruction of Crosby Messerlain—"Bing" to us—and Vernon Danforth, we have acquired the necessary fundamentals which are essential to properly ride and guide a horse. Considerable time has been spent in the ring perfecting these skills. We have also practiced riding in pairs and formations and have gradually covered the majority of the trails in the park.

Katherine Perry, Ruth Krans, Charlene Kretzman, Dorothy Alberghane, Ruth Talcott, and Norma Warren are all enthusiastic about their riding, and declare they "don't even get stiff anymore."

There have been various calamities, such as Janice's falling off, mounting, and tumbling off the other side, and the time Kate's horse arrived at the stable without her. But in spite of the mishaps, we feel very proud when Bing tells us we are one of his best classes, and we look forward eagerly to the all day ride which has been promised us.

The climax of the season will be an Interscholastic Riding Meet which will be held at the Goddard Park Riding Academy on June twenty-first. The schools participating will be Aldrich, Cranston, East Greenwich Academy, Hope and Lockwood.

The Debating Club

THE Debating Club, which was again organized under the guidance of Mr. Hammett, has been fairly active this year. At the first meeting that was held, officers were elected, and the following people were chosen:

President .....Arthur Yeates
Vice President .....Preston Bent
Secretary .....Barbara Spungin
Treasurer .....Janice Harred

Other members were Dorothy Alberghane, Katherine Perry, Rodney Hanks, Harold Maddalena, Fred Hunt, Robert Nichols, Francis Healy, and Robert Leach.

The club joined the Kent County Forensic League and Arthur Yeates and Barbara Spungin were sent as delegates to the several board meetings. At these meetings they helped plan for the First Annual Open Forum, in conjunction with North Kingstown, Lockwood, West Warwick, and Aldrich. The League, under the direction of Miss Wallace of Lockwood, decided to have the Forum at West Warwick and set the date for May 1. The League meeting also arranged dates for debates between the different member schools.

An open Forum meeting was held at eight o'clock in the West Warwick Assembly Hall under the chairmanship of Mr. Mullen, principal of the Host School. Two delegates from each school, ten in all, took part in the discussion, each speaking extemporaneously for two minutes.

The subjects which were submitted for the boards to settle, were: first, "Are men more intelligent than women?"; second, "Should the United States adapt a tax for defense?"; and third, "Should dates adopt Dutch treat?" Arthur Yeates and Preston Bent represented the Academy.

Dramatics

THE aim of the Dramatic Department this year has been that of trying to include as many students as possible in its plays, either through actual stage experience, or by stage work. Approximately forty students from both the Junior and Senior classes have participated in this work during the school year.

The Senior Play given in December was a comedy by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, "Once There Was a Princess." The cast of this play consisted of Dorothy Oakes, Arthur Yeates, Priscilla Maine, Brayton White, Dorothy Nicholson, Edwin Lewis, Elizabeth Arzouyan, Ruth Gardiner, Barbara Lineham, Edward Duro, Inez Portaluppi, Charlene Kretzman, Charles Bryant, Marguerite Cassamas, Catherine Rhodes, and June Munson; while the stage workers included Phoebe Browning, Florence Leach, Winifred Smith; and Sherwood Raymond as Stage Manager.

"Once There Was a Princess" was a three-act comedy with a prologue and epilogue, and only one set was necessary throughout the three acts. Each student participating in the play did a good job with the part he was assigned, and a smooth performance resulted. This play gave nine of the students a chance to work on character parts, although none of these parts was the so-called "comic" or "type" character. By putting on a play of this caliber we not only have a play that is of interest to everyone, but also one that gives student-actors a chance to work with parts that are genuine in their interpretation. As all the characters in this play were "just folks," the cast found it easy to adapt themselves to the situation.

On March 15th the Junior Class gave three one-act plays, "Sparkin'," "Two Crooks and a Lady" and "Greasy Luck." The one-act play was chosen so that more students would have the chance to work with rounded parts. These plays also gave a satisfying program, for "Sparkin'" was a comedy, "Two Crooks and a Lady" a drama, and "Greasy Luck" a tragedy.

The following students participated in these plays: Barbara Spungin, Dorothy Alberghane, Gloria D'Attore, Robert Davis, Otto Olson, Celina Begin, Carolyn Almquist, Marion Anderson, Everett Lundberg, Herbert Dix, Preston Bent, Rodney Hanks, Rosalind Raab, and Olga Giornelli. Francis Healy, Amy Ekstrom, Margery Harrington, Delight Cutler, and Janice Harred assisted with the back stage work.

Third row: Miss Ash, Miss Coppen, Miss Smith, Miss Giles, Miss Williams, Miss Brookings.

Eastman Dormitory

STEP right this way for a personally conducted tour through Eastman Dormitory. Up the steps, through the colonial doorway and into the spacious living room we go. We are very proud of this room which has recently been renovated and is very lovely. That beautiful picture over the fireplace was given to us by Mrs. Barrett in loving memory of her mother.

Now to meet the inhabitants of Eastman. This quiet, dignified lady coming toward us is Miss Giles, our dean of girls. She has done a lot for us, helped settle our many problems, and is deeply respected by every girl.

Down in this corner is one of the nicest rooms in the dorm and certainly the most orderly. It belongs to Miss Brookings, our general manager, who sees that our working schedule runs smoothly, which is no small task by the way; also, if any help is needed in English literature she will be glad to give it to you.

Let's go up to the second floor. This nautical room on our left belongs to Connie Winsor, one of our most attractive girls. Although only a freshman, she has done very well on the gym team and in other activities. Will her successes continue? We certainly hope so.

Here in the corner we find Lucy Taylor, the girl with the beautiful hair and charming ways. She sits looking dreamily out over the campus, because this is Saturday afternoon, and almost three-thirty—could the time have anything to do with her dreamy mood?

Next door to Lucy is our musical director, Miss Williams. She is noted for her patience in working out her musical productions. She also goes in for costume making, especially for gym exhibitions.

This girl standing on her head is none other than Betsy Steere. Gym is in her blood, and she has all the ear marks of being a rising young gymnast. More power to you, Betsy.

And here is our future concert artist, Elizabeth Kierstead. Some day we will be able to say we knew her when! She really can play very well, and we wish her lots of success.

That shriek and blue streak that just ran up the stairs was another freshman, Jean Fitzmaurice. "Jeannie" has a very interesting room that reminds one of old Mexico.

Winsor Dormitory

Enter, my children, into Winsor dorm
Where you will be greeted very warm;
Here all the lads you will see,
If you will but start to follow me.

HERBY AND SWEET PEA. The first room we enter is that of the Davis-Dix combination. Here that studious student of studies, Robert Davis, better known as "Sweet Pea," is busily studying his latest theory on how to ring the bell in three easy lessons, while his roommate is gazing abstractedly out the window, busily thinking of being another Thomas Edison. Both these boys are athletes: Herby is one of our "football heroes," while "Sweet Pea" is the gymnast. Practically any night you may find "Sweet Pea" trying a new handstand or a backward flip onto the bed. Occasionally you may hear the boisterous sounds of dissention, but upon inspection the two are merely wrestling over an algebra problem.

AL. Next door is Albert Ruff who is usually seen working hard for the track team. He may be pacing in his room, or making the hectic dash from first to third floor to join his cohorts, "Cam" and Felix, in a track session. This blond Sophomore should prove a great help to the track team in his next two years.

FRED. Down the corridor to the next door we find Frederick Livingston poring studiously over a book — probably not a text book, however. Fred has been at the Academy for four years, and he certainly knows his "ins" and "outs". From a a short, fat boy to a big, strapping six-footer, Fred has changed with the school. We all get our news from Fred, for he knows what's going to happen—and how to get around it—before such information is off the record.

ART. Arthur Sylvia is next to claim our attention for he lives next to Fred—perhaps the only one who could live beside him. Although this is "Art's" first year here, he has made a fine name for himself. A little older than most of the boys, he has fitted in very nicely, and we are all proud of him.

We are now ready to climb the stairs to the second floor, but before doing so we say adios to Mr. Eastman who is wildly playing one of his own compositions, "The First Floor Blues," on his flute.

Finally, we have attained our goal, for we are now dignified Seniors. You may laugh, but really, you can't imagine the change in us during the last four years— I can imagine what our new faculty members are thinking, "Gracious, what were they before they were Seniors?" Nevertheless, you wouldn't know we were the same people.

Our Senior officers were:

President .....Arthur Yeates
Vice President .....Angel Mazorra
Secretary .....Dorothy Nicholson
Treasurer .....Priscilla Maine

Have you noticed that for three years Priscilla Maine has been class treasurer? That's quite a record.

For class advisers Miss Smith and Mr. Swanson were chosen.

Our first activity on October 27 was a Hallowe'en Dance, complete with ghosts, goblins, and witches. All attending came in costume, and prizes were given for the most outstanding ones. In fact, the wife of one of our faculty members received the prize for not being recognized. Can you imagine a husband not knowing his own wife? It just goes to show you how unique the costumes were. As usual it was a splendid affair.

For our second bit of theatrical work, our class players presented, under the efficient direction of Mr. Cummings, the play "Once There Was a Princess". The leads, Dorothy Oakes, Arthur Yeates, Priscilla Maine, Brayton White, Dorothy Nicholson, Inez Portaluppi, Edward Duro, Ruth Gardiner, Barbara Lineham, Elizabeth Arzouyan, Edwin Lewis, Marguerite Cassamas, Catherine Rhodes, and June Munson, put on a grand performance. Those students' ability really shone. Keep track of the above names; they may be in lights over Broadway someday soon.

On May 24 we held the traditional Ivy Day Program. Something new was begun this year and we hope that it will be carried down through the years: We crowned a May Queen who was Inez Portaluppi, and we had an Ivy Chain. In the evening we gave the Ivy Day Dance, our last contribution to the Academy's social calendar. We decorated the gymnasium with ivy—not poison ivy—and flowers, and had a splendid orchestra. As it was our last activity, we wanted to present a dance that could not be surpassed. All those who attended will certainly confirm the fact that we did.

We have now completed our duties as Seniors and are ready to go out into the world and make a name for ourselves. We will, you just wait and see.

Five times during the year, members from our music department, who had season tickets, went to the Metropolitan Theater in Providence to hear the Boston Symphony Orchestra directed by Serge Koussevitsky. At one of these concerts, Dorothy Maynor, at this time unknown to the public, sang the solo "Skyscrapers" by Carpenter. Since then, Miss Maynor has taken her place with the outstanding singers of the American concert world. At another we heard Joseph Hoffman, a renowned pianist. At the third concert, the famous composer Ignor Stravinsky conducted a program of his own works. These concerts were not only entertaining but gave us a good understanding of the classical music as well as an appreciation for this music.

Members of the Girls' Glee Club attended a concert given at the Metropolitan Theater by Nelson Eddy, famous screen and operatic star. Both the selections on the program and the encores, of which there were many, that he sang were thrilling to hear, and the girls returned both inspired by his baritone voice and rather excited by the whole thing.

As the year is drawing to a close, the Glee Clubs are again preparing to take part in the graduation exercises, as they have in other years.

Football

THE 1939 Academy football season opened under the direction of a new coach, Mr. Thomas Carey, who starred on the Brown University eleven for the past three seasons. All the eager candidates reported to the field and practice showed that the boys had what it takes to make a hard-fighting team. With little practice before the opening game the squad made great strides toward shaping up into a stubborn outfit.

The first game took place at Guiteras Field in Bristol where a large and powerful Colt squad overcame the Academy 19 to 0. Inexperience and lack of practice proved disastrous to the Academy squad, but what they lacked in size they made up for in spirit.

At Haines Memorial Park the Academy stalwarts lost to Barrington 12 to 0. The Academites outplayed their oponents throughout the game and both Barrington touchdowns came on "breaks." The first score was the result of a blocked kick on the sixth play of the game. The size of the Blue and Gold continued to wear down the Crimson, but they didn't score until the closing minutes on an intercepted pass. A large group of students from the Academy travelled with the team to see the game, and, although disappointed at losing, were greatly pleased with the fighting spirit displayed by the team.

By intercepting a pass in the third period, speedy Tom Crudden raced sixty yards to give the Academy their only victory of the year over a strong De La Salle outfit. The game gave a large crowd on the Academy field many thrills as the Crusaders threatened severely to score, but were repelled by a stubborn Academy eleven.

With Warren scoring early in the second period the hard fighting Academy team, through the combined efforts of Crudden and Kettelle, tied the score. However, the Warren squad proved too much for the Crimson as they left the field with a 21 to 7 victory.

At Old Mountain Field in Peacedale the Academy met a formidable opponent in South Kingstown. South Kingstown was the first to score, but the completion of a twenty-eight yard forward pass from Crudden to Haddock, and a successful conversion gave the Academy a seven to six lead at half time. The South County boys blocked an East Greenwich punt and scored a safety which gave them the lead early in the second half which they continued to run up by taking to the air. The hard fighting of the Academy began to tell in the fourth period as the Greenwich boys were nearing "pay dirt" when the final whistle blew.

In the final game of the season the Academy played host to Burrillville, 1938 Class C Champions and destined to be the 1939 Champs. The game showed the grit and fine spirit of cooperation of the Academy squad, but they couldn't hold the superior power and stamina of the Blue Wave who emerged from the fray with a well-earned 28 to 0 win.

Although the squad gained only one victory, they showed in every game that they wouldn't quit until the final whistle was blown. Fighting with all their might, the squad, throughout the season, displayed fine football ability.

The outlook for next year's squad seems very good as only a few men will be missing from the starting line-up. Spring practice showed a large number of candidates reporting, and the prospect of a good team for the 1940 season looks very bright.

Basketball

WITH very little practice under their belts, the Academy basketballers set out on their 1939-40 season. The lack of pre-training was due to the reconditioning of the gym floor. After a ten year lapse, sports relations between LaSalle Academy were renewed when they appeared as the first on our schedule. A hotly fought contest ensued between the two teams, and it wasn't until the fourth period, when the lack of practice began to tell on the Crimson, that the Smith Hillers gained the lead. They moved rapidly away from the tired but stubborn Academy quintet to win 37-29.

Warren came up as the first opponent in Class C with a squad that was eager for victory, but smooth ball-handling and snappy basket shooting outclassed the visitors, and they left with a 55-31 defeat.

The next game was an exhibition contest between the famous All-American Red Heads, a traveling girls' team, who have gained much renown for easily overcoming all challengers. This time, however, they were met with the fast shifty play of the Academy boys, so that they could not keep up with them, and the game ended with a 48-28 count chalked up on the score board in our favor.

The combination of "Pep" Spencer and "Len" Seligman began to click as the Academy started a drive through Class C. North Kingstown fell an easy victim. The Coventry game proved to be a smashing Greenwich triumph, 104-12. In this game "Len" Seligman, by scoring 44 points in only 24 minutes of play, broke the former Academy's high scoring record held by Bob Smith of the class of 1939.

Journeying to North Providence to meet the LaSalle quintet in a return engagement, the Academy squad made up for their first loss by pounding out a 35-34 win. "Al" Denice, who entered the game in the closing minutes of the first half, sparked the team from what seemed a Smith Hill win to a close contest. The lead changed hands five times before the Academites were able to hold the lead.

North Providence and South Kingstown were next in line to fall before the onslaught of the driving E. G. A. squad.

The Alumni set out in the next game to give the undergraduates a set-back, but when the smoke of the fray had cleared away the graduates were found on the short end of a 69-33 score.

Again proving an easy mark for the Academy, Coventry was droped 81-35 in a very easy game. North Providence also bowed out on an easy 56-16 score.

South Kingstown threw a scare into the Greenwich Club when they provided some very stubborn opposition, but the fast pace of the Academy finally wore down the boys from South County and another win was chalked up for the Academy.

By defeating North Kingstown 84-23 the Academy clinched the crown of the Western division of Class C. Rhode Island School of the Deaf and Barrington were the next victims of the Academy's steam roller tactics. In the Barrington game "Len" Seligman received a serious knee injury which kept him out of the line-up for the remainder of the season.

Girls' Basketball

WHEN the call for girls to participate in basketball was made last fall, many responded and were filled with enthusiasm, anxiety, and eagerness to get started.

After a month of hard and conscientious practice, under the excellent leadership of our new coach, Miss Ruth Coppen, we were ready for our first encounter of the season which was the game with South Kingstown on our home floor. The team fought hard, but it seemed to lack something essential for a winning unit. The game ended with a victory of 31 to 6 in favor of South Kingstown.

Our next game was a non-league game with Rhode Island School for the Deaf. During the first half we just couldn't seem to get started, but during the second half we began to click. We fought hard and fiercely, but the final whistle blew just too soon, and we lost by the narrow margin of one point: the score being 16 to 15.

Our return game with South Kingstown was played at the Peacedale Opera House. South Kingstown had the advantage of playing on their home court and although the Academy sextet fought hard, the South Kingstown lasses again proved too much for us and gained for themselves the decisive victory of 27 to 3.

At our next league game we were hosts to the North Kingstown team. At the beginning neither team gained much headway for both were playing good defensive games. In the second half E. G. A. slowed up a bit and the game ended with a score of 11 to 4 in North Kingstown's favor.

When we next met the North Kingstown's sextet, it was at North Kingstown High. Their team was much too strong for us and they ran up 22 points to our 6, although E. G. A. did its best in trying to hold them.

When we first attacked Coventry, it was on their home floor. Because Coventry's suits were similar in color to E. G. A.'s, there was some delay in starting the game, but this was overcome when the Coventry girls willingly changed to white blouses. The score was more or less even throughout the game, Coventry getting a basket or two ahead of E. G. A. in each quarter and finishing the game with a 17 to 9 victory.

Our last league game of the season was the return engagement with Coventry. As our motto was "If at first you don't succeed try, try again," we were determined to show the Coventry sextet what we could do. This was our fastest and most furious game of the season and it showed that we did have coordination. During the first half Coventry just couldn't seem to get around us and we led at half time by the score of 9 to 4. In the second half Coventry turned the tables and piled up basket after basket to win the final decision 22 to 16. We were doing the best we could but we lacked something (maybe it was luck?), but no one could say that Coventry didn't have to fight hard for their victory.

Our last game of the season was a non-league game with Rhode Island School for the Deaf. The Academy team put all it had into this game and had the grim determination to win. The E. G. A. sextet was ahead by the slight margin of 12 to 8 at the end of the first half. During the last half they kept up their determined spirit and came through with flying colors; the final score reading 29 to 11.

Although the team was not as successful as everyone had hoped it would be, the girls can look back at all the fun they had playing.

A great deal of credit goes to Miss Coppen. Her patience, guidance, and her keen interest throughout the season was of great value to the team.

Baseball

E. G. A. embarked on another baseball season rather late this spring as the bad weather prevented early practice. In a warm-up game with Lockwood, the Academy was beaten, although displaying some very good baseball that looked encouraging.

Bad weather continued to haunt baseball throughout the early season, so that the schedule had to be revamped in order to care for the changes. On a day made for anything but baseball the Academy nine journeyed to Peacedale to meet the forces of South Kingstown High School. The game was a tight one, and was extremely good for the first game of the league. South Kingstown finally won the game 2 to 1.

On Friday, April 19th on the Academy diamond, Coventry High's ball club were the visitors of the local squad. The game looked like an Academy win as they went in the first half of the seventh inning with a 5 to 0 lead. However, three runs in the seventh inning and one in each succeeding frame by Coventry resulted in a draw. As darkness was falling rapidly and the contest an extremely slow one, the game had to be called.

At Wickford the Academy forces banged out a 4-0 victory. Although they used three pitchers, North Kingstown never threatened to push across a run. Six hits and loose fielding on the part of North Kingstown helped the Greenwich cause.

Playing the first game on the new field at North Providence the Academy met defeat 9 to 2. Behind good hitting and pitching the North Providence nine, by allowing only three scattered hits for the Academy, upheld the cause.

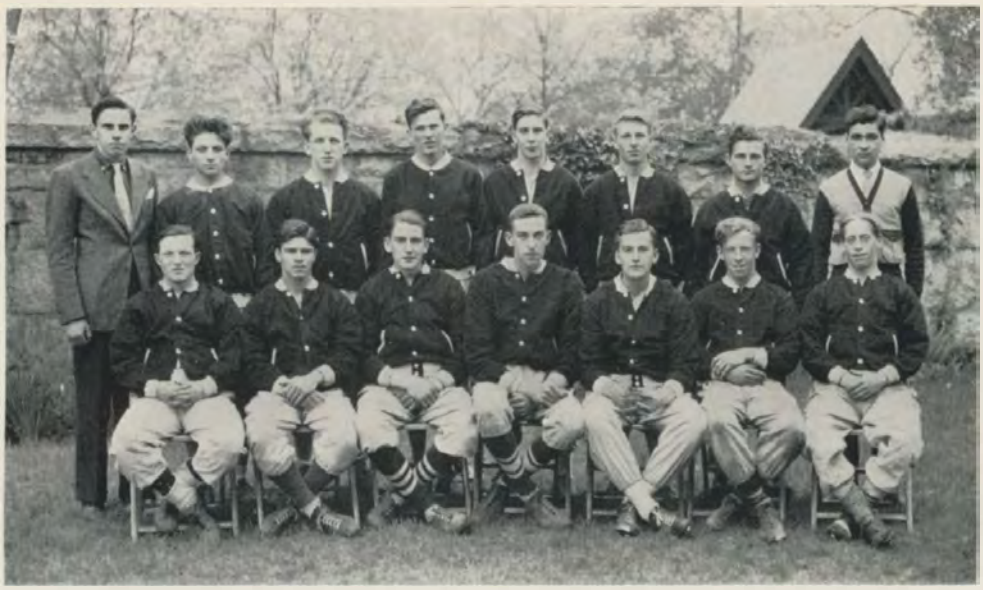

On the Academy field South Kingstown tried fruitlessly to overcome a heavier hitting and tighter fielding Academy nine. Scoring three runs in the first and one in the second, the local forces went into an early lead, but South Kingstown came back with five runs in the fourth that gave them the edge. However, in the following stanza the Academy scored three runs to hold a lead that they kept increasing to the end of the game which ended in a 16 to 7 verdict. "Pep" Spencer was best man for the day, both on the mound and at bat with a triple, double and single for five trips to the plate. Tom Crudden also had a big day with four hits out of five.

Cumberland was the next opponent at Valley Falls. The Academy was first to score with three runs in the third inning. Cumberland came up with one in the same frame followed by another in the fourth. In the fifth the Blackstone Valley boys netted two runs to take a 4 to 3 lead which they held until the eighth when E. G. A. tied the contest. Cumberland ended the game in the tenth when Les Bouser sent a line drive to deep center field to score speedy Al Janicki from second.

Anthony was the scene of the return Coventy-East Greenwich tilt. Although Coventry won 4 to 1, the game was closer than the score indicated. Healy took hitting honors with three for three. The batters of E. G. A., however, could not bunch their hits as effectively as their opponents.

Driving across eight runs on eleven hits the Academy scored an easy 8 to 4 victory over North Kingstown High School. George Leach and Warren Eddy led the attack which began in the second inning when four hits, two bases on balls, and an error resulted in six runs. North Kingstown threatened in the fifth, but they were stopped by the relief pitching of "Pep" Spencer.

In a fast, short game under rather perverse weather conditions, the Academy nine forced a 4 to 3 victory over a hard trying Barrington outfit. Barrington was first to score with a run in the second, and another in the fifth; but the Academites took a 3 to 2 lead by scoring a run in the sixth and two more in the eighth. However, in the ninth, a base on balls and a Texas leaguer by second-baseman Stone, Barrington tied the contest at three all. In the Local's half of the ninth, Andy Spencer walked, stole second and third, scored on Kettelle's single to right field to end the ball game.

The standing of the team in Class C's western division at the present time isn't very high, but the club has displayed fine ball in all games. They have been in every contest fighting until the last minute. The heavy artillery exhibited some very fine twirling. "Pep," the leading strikeout king, has fifty strike-outs to his record thus far this season. Tommy Crudden is the leading slugger of the outfit with an average of .571.

Gym Team

ASPIRATION — our goal: cooperation — our aim. These two underlying factors have made our gym team what it was this year, and needless to say, you all know what that was. In the past, each succeeding performance has surpassed the former year's until it did not seem possible that it could climb to greater heights. Yet this year again it has topped all preceding exhibitions.

To the competent, patient and willing assistance of Mr. Rudolph Swanson, coach of the team, and to his untiring efforts, we owe much of our success.

Both the Boys' and the Girls' Gym Teams were organized way back in October. Starting with many new members and a number of last year's aspirants, Mr. Swanson miraculously changed raw material into finished product.

Before our annual Home Exhibition was held, we exhibited our skill outside of our own doors. A meet was held with Aldrich High School, and our boys gave their opponents some keen opposition, carrying off many of the honors. A New England Gym meet was held at Hope High this year, and three of our boys entered this contest. Harold Maddalena, Russell Kettelle, and our assistant coach, "Nicky" Carcieri. Russell Kettelle came back to us with the title of "Best High-school boy parallel-bar performer in the state," a title which made us very proud.

At last, the long awaited night arrived, our seventh annual Home Exhibition, held in the Swift Memorial Gymnasium. Due to the large demand for tickets, the exhibition was held on two nights, Thursday, April 18th and Saturday, April 20th—the latter was parents' night at the Academy.

The Gym was a busy hubbub of people anxiously looking for the proper seats and eagerly talking of the forth-coming performance.

At the sound of Mr. Swanson's whistle, the lights were lowered and an expectant hush fell over the crowd as a brisk march was struck on the piano. The smooth, even movements of the figures in white slacks and shirts marched onto the floor. After a few tricky turns about the gym, the fine display of group marching broke into the mass calisthenics, led by Inez Portaluppi, captain of the girls' team. They moved as one body—surely and gracefully.

With such a grand opening under way, Rita DeRestie led a group of boys with the vaults on the horse, a difficult piece of apparatus on which to work. Head stands, hand stands, flips, and various other exercises were perfectly executed.

This was followed by a select group of girls in an intricate and catchy wand-drill. Dressed in black satin shorts, a short skirt and a white satin blouse, both the girls and the drill were attractive to behold.

The parallel bars brought forth a skilled group of boys and girls in a series of precise routines that held the audience attentively. Here the spectators saw why "Ben" Kettelle won his title, and they were awed at his skill and that of his fellow performers.

The Flying and Stationary Rings are always a thrilling sight to behold. Perhaps it is because they are so dangerous and difficult on which to perform. Here again we find that "Ben" Kettelle is featured with his stationary and flying routine. Rita DeRestie, Inez Portaluppi, and Tony Ferranti, all effectively and gracefully carried through their individual routines.

With the lights darkened and only the flashing bright lanterns from her Electric Clubs showing, Phoebe Browning ran through a spectacular drill to the tune of "Starlit Hour." Such fancy designs!

The beating of a tom-tom and the glow from a campfire was the setting for the next act. A group of stoic-looking Indians marched onto the gym floor attired in true Indian fashion, and displayed real Indian form in a startling hoop dance. The crowd was both amazed and thrilled at this performance.

This year, as the performance took place on two nights, two different guests appeared. On Thursday night, Miss Adeline Cole, an acrobatic dancer displayed real form and pleased the audience greatly. On Saturday night, the guests were the famous balancing team of Towers and Richards. Their act was almost a wonder to behold; their bodies trained to perfection.

A pair of rollicking clowns, namely, Nick Denice and Francis King, had the audience holding their sides as they romped, rolled, and ran gaily over the floor in a continual burst of merriment—a comedy in rhythm.

One of the greatest hits of the evening was the exhibition on the horizontal bar, carried out most efficiently by a group of our boys. The audience gasped as Paul King, Harold Maddalena, Nick Denice, Conrad Wheeler, and Russell Kettelle performed amazingly on this apparatus. Again we find that "Ben" Kettelle—who seems to be everywhere—with Harold Maddalena performed the most difficult and dangerous feat of the evening: the giant, which consists of a complete turn of the body about the bar. This great feat was amazingly and skillfully carried out by these two boys.

To the strains of "Love-Land in the Winter Time," a group of tap dancers very attractively garbed in white satin, fur trimmed skaters costumes, gracefully glided onto the gym floor which seemed to have been miraculously transformed into a skating rink. An artificial snow storm gave atmosphere to the dance, and the famous Bobby Corville amazed the audience with his tap dance routine on skates.

The climax of the exhibition came as the boys clad in shorts and caps entirely covered with gold paint, performed a series of friezes; the first was the characterizing of sports, then the Statue of Liberty. Finally, our goal—Aspiration, and our aim—Cooperation, excellently portrayed by the "wheel of cooperation" which were the two underlying factors for the success of this year's team brought the exhibition to an end.

Here in this next corner is Delight Cutler. She has a charming accent and has entertained us all with her sangfroid. "Decky" acts very innocently, but sometimes we wonder.

Next door to Delight is another lovely room in which we find the French and German teacher, Miss Coppen. She has a very interesting personality. We must return sometime and let her tell us about her trip to Germany.

Now for the third floor. Be prepared for anything, for here we find quite an interesting group; for instance, Dorothy Oakes: talent, brains, and attractiveness are "Dottie" O's prime qualities. Dottie has amazing artistic ability along with the personality to make friends—and what's more, keep them! She does well in every activity she participates in—and that is practically everything.

In the corner are Priscilla Maine and Dorothy Nicholson. Those two roommates have the marvelous record of having the same room for their four years of high school life. Pussy is busy as usual doing something for the Senior class. She is one of the hardest workers in it, and was voted its best-natured girl. "Dottie" is trying to write a theme for English which she can do very well. Her big blue eyes are very fascinating, and her willingness to work for others is admired by all.

See that "Ray" of light coming through the window? This room belongs to Elizabeth Arzouyan. Betty has one of the best personalities in the dorm. Another senior whom we wish success in the secretarial world in which she now intends to enter.

Miss Ash's room is our medicine cabinet. If you don't feel well, here is the lady to go to. I guarantee she will fix you up. Good hearted as they come, she will do anything for you.

In the southeastern wing of Eastman are the most attractive roommates that you could find anywhere. They are Audrey Smith and Margery Harrington. Audrey, the campus sweetheart, has one difficulty, although she can say the alphabet backwards, she can't seem to get beyond A when she tries to say it forwards. Wonder why! Margie looks like a lovely doll come to life. Here is a rare combination of beauty and brains. She does her shopping at Bergstrom's. I for one don't wonder why.

What was that awful yell? Let's investigate. It came from Marie Langenfeld's room. Poor Marie, the window must have fallen on her neck as she was watching things bob-ing below it. Here's hoping she recovers.

There's Charlene Kretzman reveling in Shakespeare. She was unanimously voted the most original girl in the Seniorclass. She does have some excellent ideas. Her attractive personality won her the title of most collegiate girl.

After going up four floors we really ought to find something worth while. We have. It's Miss Smith. Excuse the fish bowl and white mice, for Miss Smith specializes in Biology. As she is a possessor of a charming personality, she is very popular with all the girls.

Whee! ! There's Phyllis Parker, the best dressed girl in the dorm, dashing down four flights of stairs to her waiting "Romeo" and to stroll with him beneath the trees of our fair campus.

Last, but far from least, on the top floor, we find Doris Silvia: pep, vim, and vigor are the three best adjectives to describe her.

Our tour has ended. Shall we take the elevator down to the first floor—on second thought, "No", we might want to stop off at Audrey's for a bottle of Coco-Cola and some of her mother's chocolate cake.

As the Academy won the right to represent the Western Division of Class C, and Cumberland the right of the Eastern Division, the regularly scheduled game between them would be a preview of the series. Because of the large following of both teams the game was played at the Rhode Island Auditorium. Cumberland was heavily favored to win as the Academy was lacking the services of Captain Angel Mazorra and high-scorer "Len" Seligman. Our Allenmen displayed fine basketball to win the contest in a smashing 53-33 victory that surprised all, even the ardent rooters of the team.

In the final league game of the season the Academites handed Colt a 41-21 loss.

Entering the Class C play-offs the Academy trounced the visiting Cumberland outfit 60-32. Charlie Bryant was the outstanding performer of the evening. At Valley Falls, in one of the roughest games of the season, the Academy's win-streak of 17 was broken by a charging Cumberland team. In the final and deciding game, played before a large crowd in the Cranston High school gym, the Academy again felt the sharp sting of defeat as they were banged out by a defense-stressing Cumberland squad.

When the season's records were completed, the results of this year's basketball team became outstanding; out of 20 games they won 17. This placed them among the top Rhode Island schoolboy teams. The Academy was the only team to go through its league schedule undefeated. It rated second with the three teams that scored over 1000 points for the season. Two of the team's players, "Len" Seligman and "Pep" Spencer, led the Class C scoring honors with 244 points in eleven games, and 200 points in 13 games respectively. It was a sad ending to the wonderful season to lose to Cumberland in the Class C play-offs.

BOB AND SLIM. As we reach the head of the stairs, Bob Turner greets us with a shrill, penetrating whistle, which he has cultivated well. Occasionally he bursts into tunes that sound like "Marie, Oh, Marie." These piercing tunes, more strident than musical, make one wonder how Preston "Slim" Bent, his roommate, can concentrate. "Slim" is one of the football players who made himself indispensable to our fighting eleven.

BOB. Our next stop is at the door of Robert "Superman" Leach. Entering this room we find this jolly lad lying on his bed surrounded by four gaily decorated walls. Bob was one of our late arrivals, but he soon made many friends among the students.

"JOE" YEATES. We have now arrived at the Senior President's room, and, as usual, we find him busily at work. Arthur is probably our most original personality, for it is to him that we come for new ideas and practical suggestions. "Joe" is a good student, and one of the best liked boys in the dorm.

DICK. Next door to "Joe" we find Dick Langenfeld. He appears to be a quiet boy, but as "Bonnie Baker" says, "You'd be surprised." Saving match covers is one of Dick's many hobbies. He also saves interesting clocks, his favorite being a Chinese clock called "Ting Lee."

ANGIE AND LENNY. At last we reach the room of the two famous basketball stars, who spell the word sports with a capital S. Puns galore, wit, humor, and a healthy love for fun—these qualities which these boys possess makes their room the gathering place for many of the gang, for the "open house" sign is always on the door.

CHARLIE AND RAY. We now turn to the last room on the second floor, encountering Mr. Hammett en route who exchanges puns with us. We find Sherwood Raymond busily electrolizing while Charlie Bryant sits on the bed eating an apple and juggling a baseball—a rare feat for any young man with a heartbeat. We say goodby to Charles and Ray and head for the third floor.

As we reach the third floor Mr. Cummings greets us with one of his gags, "Come up and see my itchings," but we leave this Frank man and swing into the first room we see.

WALT. He's six feet four, and a blond at that. Who is he? It's Walter Hughes, who comes to us direct from Stanton Military Academy. Walt's as humorous as he is big—this can be seen by his greeting to us, "How are Hughes?"

FRED. Who's this at our next stop? Why, it's Fred Johnson, our young romanticist. He always has us guessing, but we think the answer is Jean. Fred is also quite capable at tickling the ivories. We leave jolly Fred, but before doing so, we steal a comic book from his vast collection.

BRUCE. We then enter the room of Bruce Turner. Always willing to lend a helping hand, and liked by all the fellows, Bruce is headed far.

BOB. We are next greeted by the boom—boom of a tom-tom, and we think we are in the jungle, but it is only our popular Soph, President Bob Burkett, playing away on the traps. Bob gave his all in football and also scored E. G. A.'s only points in the state track meet. He's usually seen with Cam and Felix his next door neighbors whom we will now visit.

CAM AND FELIX. Here are two Seniors, Cam Cutler and Felix Konstandt. Felix came from Czechoslovakia and has made a name for himself in this school both as a student and as an athlete. His roommate Cam, a seafaring lad, is fond of sports of all kinds. He participated in track and football where he displayed great talent. These two boys are inseparable as they are always together both in life and in talk.

GENE. We swing about now and head for the room of Eugene Price. We find Gene tinkering with his radio which he made himself. A lover of guns and boats, Gene is also a good gymnast as was seen in the gym exhibition.

GARDNER. Gardner, also is having his first year at E. G. A. He made himself popular from the first day he came, and his class chose him President. His favorite hobby is art and his walls depict his talent.

ALLEN AND WILLIAM. The last room in the dorm—that of William Bander and Allen Low two lads that provide merriment to all. Both are very well liked.

We now leave Winsor, but before doing so we step in to thank Dean Swanson for allowing us to interview the boys. We bid him good-by and head for home

Now my children you have seen
Winsor Dorm from the freshmen to the Dean;
I hope you enjoyed it as much as I.
But now we will have to say good-by.
