FOREWORD

As we looked back over our years of school, we realized that the majority of them were spent during times of war. For this reason, we decided that the theme for our Yearbook should in some way be related to the search for everlasting-peace.

After many discussions and much debate, it finally occurred to us that militarism, although not directly related to peace, would be the obvious theme to choose, as it symbolized our school years and also represented the hope which we hold for peace.

Thus, having chosen the theme, we began work on the book; and now we present to you---the CRIMSON OF 1953.

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1953, respectfully dedicate this years's CRIMSON to five boys who, by their loyalty to their country, have rightfully won the respect of us, their classmates. They are those whose names you see listed below. These boys, through the years, have left our class to become members of the various services. We all think they deserve the greatest praise for giving up so much to serve under our country's flag.

EDWARD DYER - Air Corps
Left us January 9, 1952

ANTHONY MONTINI - Navy
Left us November 10 1950

WALTER NORTHUP - Air Corps
Left us January 24, 1950

DONALD WARBURTON - Navy
Left us June 23, 1951

EDGAR WEIDELE - Air Corps

IN APPRECIATION

To Mrs. Barker, we, the Class of 1953, extend our deepest appreciation for all she has done in our behalf. Without her interest and encouragement, this edition of the CRIMSON would never have been published, and very few of our other tasks would have been completed. In the years to come, we will all remember her with gratitude in our hearts.

Mr. Ferri also deserves a vote of thanks for his understanding and help to all of us. He has always been on hand when we have needed him most, and he has given us criticism and encouragement whenever it was needed. His memory will live with us all forever.

Our General
ARCHIE R. COLE - Superintendent

TO THE CLASS OF 1953

Sometimes in writing a message such as this, I am aware that meaningful words are hard to find. In today's world we are barraged by words on radio and television, and in pamphlets, periodicals, and books. To stop, think, and evaluate these words, becomes your responsibility.

It is my hope that you will accept your responsibilities with confidence and your problems with wisdom.

Through you and other young people like you, our heritage can be preserved and our many freedoms protected from the encroachment of those policies conceived and spread by evil and warped minds.

Archie R. Cole

Our Captain
RUFUS A. BRACKLEY - Principal

TO THE CLASS OF 1953

Graduation from high school is neither the beginning of your life nor the end of your education.

Live long and live well.

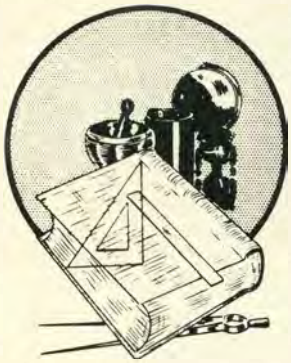

Be observant and you will learn much.

CLASS HISTORY

One September day in the year '49--
(The memory is always a favorite of mine)
We started school in East Greenwich High.
We were all really scared, but determined to try

We went to our room, number 104,
And there we began our first year of four.
A few days later we were faced with a task.
We had to choose leaders for our class.

As President we decided that Kenny Hart
Was just the right man for the part.
For his aid John Giornelli was chosen then,
And we gave Barbara Shadeck pencil and pen.

The accounting was done by Norma Jones;
So we said good by to our worries and moans.
There they were, the talented four.
They did their best and a little more.

Our first big project was the Harvest Dance.
Here, we thought, was a wonderful chance
To show the upper classmen a mighty good time
And prove our ability to earn a dime.

A movie night was put on by all
To help us out on the E. U. N. call.
Our trip was gay and lots of fun.
Our knowledge of world affairs had begun.

Our freshman year flew by so fast!
Now sunny June was here at last.
A class picnic, desired by many,
Was held at Mishnock, best place of any.

A few months later, at summer's end,
We returned, our sophomore year to spend.
Classes underway, it wasn't long before
We held a class meeting to elect the big four.

First, as President, was Owen Earnshaw,
Who led the class with never a flaw.
Bob Zubee was chosen as his loyal aid.
As treasurer Bob Anderson made the grade.

For secretary we chose Edgar Weidele,
Who did his job and did it well.
When he left to answer the Air Force call,
Barbara Shadeck took over, chosen by all.

Soon it was time for our Sweetheart Dance
Which brought to all some gay romance.
There Joyce Tibbitts was crowned as our queen
And her court of attendants made a beautiful scene.

As the year drew to an end, once more
We held our picnic on Mishnock's shore.
The summer flew by and when fall was near
We began to plan for our junior year.

We again assembled in 104
To choose our officers once more.
For President "O." Earnshaw was elected
And as his 'vice," Ke Hart was selected.

To aid our class with pencil and pen
Norma Jones was chosen then.
And for our treasurer, who could it be?
No other than Laurie Satterlee.

Our class rings were now the big school news.
We picked a committee to help us choose.
So hard it was, but they did their best
The final choice was made by the rest.

We wore our rings with the greatest pride.
Our smiles of pleasure we could not hide.
The days and months slipped quickly by.
Before we knew it, May was nigh.

Preparations were soon under way
For the Junior Prom, so bright and gay.
A theme was chosen--Cinderella's Ball.
Helping hands were lent by all.

Then the big night finally came.
Our two advisors shared our fame.
An orchid to Mrs. Barker we presented.
With his boutonniere, Mr. Ferri was contented.

With the seniors gone and the year 'most done,
We planned a picnic in the warm June sun.
First we settled on Scarboro's shore,
But the chill soon drove us to Mishnock once more.

To top off a day of fun on the sand
An evening of entertainment was planned.
To Rocky Point we all did go
To ride the rides and see the show.

The very next day summer was here.
We greeted it with shouts of cheer.
The months flew by and the season passed.
The school year loomed up. This was our last.

Our class had shrunk to only a few,
But what others had done we knew we could do.
Our minds were filled with wonderful plans.
The Yearbook would be in capable hands.

Our first meeting was held without delay
To elect class officers to lead our way.
"O." Earnshaw was once again our chief
And Ken Harris was chosen his relief.

As keeper of funds (how great they would be)
Robert Shaw was entrusted with the key.
To keep our records is quite a task.
Whom else but Joyce Tibbitts could we ask?

Our Christmas Dance was to be so great!
But it was stopped by the hand of fate.
Many who planned weren't able to go.
It was canceled because of the ice and snow.

Our Yearbook was finally all sent in.
We faced the future with a happy grin.
That was to us all a great relief.
Our troubles were gone, was now our belief.

Soon we were faced with sunny May,
And then it was time for Moving-Up-Day.
Awards were given and all were content.
The entire day was really well spent.

Ivy Day was now the next thing in line.
The day dawned clear; the weather was fine.
The ivy chain was carried with grace.
Memories of the court we shall never erase.

A banquet was held for our final farewell.
A treasury of memories for us to tell.
Our last class picnic was now in sight.
We all had fun and our hearts were light.

At last Graduation Day was here,
And many were seen to shed a tear.
We marched down the aisle, heads held high,
And to high school days said a final good-bye.

CLASS WILL

Souvenirs from many lands

We, the class of 1953, of the East Greenwich High School, being in our usual confused state of mind, and being about to discard the title of "undergraduate", as we emerge into that vast, mysterious wilderness known as the outside world, do hereby and herewith declare this to be our last will and testament, and we hereby hope that those who are to follow in our footsteps may enjoy our leavings as much as we enjoyed leaving them. Knowing the efficiency for which the Juniors are noted, we hereby appoint them executors of our estate, without bond.

To Mr. Brackley we leave a motor scooter to help him cover the distances from room to to room and building to building.

To Mrs. Barker we leave a lock for her desk. We know this one can not be picked.

To Mr. Ferri we leave the hope that his next class will be more expert in making coffee and cooking hot dogs.

To Mr. Andersen we leave the happy thought that he won't have our senior boys in shop again.

To Miss Byrnes we pass on the hope for a larger art room or a smaller eighth grade.

To Miss Butler we leave best wishes for a successful Sweetheart Dance.

To Mr. Carcieri we leave a memorandum book so he may remember when and where his classes meet.

To Mrs. Hunter we leave the hope that she may some day have a quiet home economics class.

To Miss Cooney we leave a brand new car, guaranteed not to need repairs for at least five years.

To Mrs. Ferretti we leave a bag of coffee for that much missed coffee hour.

To Mr. Hermance we leave a bag of sugar to sweeten those sour notes that we sometimes give him.

To Mr. Iannazzi we leave a burglar-proof safe to hold the vast sums of money for the class of "54".

To Mr. Regini we leave a new helper to bring in the milk each morning.

To Mrs. Roderick we wish the best of luck in advising the eighth grade through the next few years.

To Miss Zammitti we leave a package of writing paper to aid in her notes to Mr. Iannazzi.

Robert Anderson leaves his parking place in front of Jigger's to Everett Hathaway, in case he should get a car.

Harry Branch leaves his title of class clown to Milt Abrams in the hope that his jokes will all be appreciated.

Robert Briggs leaves his artistic ability to Natalie Foster.

Mildred Coon leaves all the money she has left after graduation, to Vivian Turgeon to help pay for the rides home from school.

Margaret Dunn leaves her great, big, beautiful dimples to Shirley Davenport.

Owen Earnshaw leaves to Benny Malvinni his gift of leadership, to help the class of "54" through their senior year.

CLASS WILL

Marvin Emery wills to his brother Stuart his long legs. Perhaps we shall have a track team some day.

Charles Fiske wills his ability to get up at 8 o'clock and still get to school on time, to Mike Franzone.

Raymond Fogarty leaves his ability to tease the girls, to Alfred Warhurst.

John Giornelli wills to Jim Van Baalen a memo-pad to aid him in remembering the football plays next year.

Kenneth Harris leaves his favorite kicking tee to Thomas Timpson.

Kenneth Hart leaves to his sister Joan, "nothing", and hopes she has better luck with it than he did.

Grace Howland leaves to John Palmer some of her quietness. Of course we know John doesn't need it!

Vance Huling leaves his secret of how to go to school, work, take his girl out every night, and still have free time, to Robert Leyden.

Norma Keeler leaves the secret of her neatness to Joan Brayton, although Joan seems to have acquired one already.

Dennis Magner wills his title of "Chief" to Leigh Johnson, hoping that Leigh may be excused from class as much as he was, to battle fires.

May Palmer leaves fifty pounds of her extra weight to David Van Olinda to help him cope with the football giants.

Lloyd Proulx leaves to David Oltedale his ability to pick up girls. Jack says if you're allergic to girls, his technique is grand.

Barbara Ramm leaves her knowledge of Macbeth to some unfortunate junior.

Laurie Satterlee wills a parking place at Dedford to whoever gets there first. Take it easy, boys.

Robert Shaw leaves a handkerchief to Katie Batton. She will need it to wipe away her tears next year.

Gordon Taylor leaves his poor excuses for failing to do homework to Clay Fish. Take it from Gordon, Clay, they won't do you any good.

Joyce Tibbitts leaves her weakness for tall boys to Judy Anderson. Good luck, Judy.

Robert Zubee leaves his muscles to Donald Rice.

In witness whereof we, the undersigned, hereby set our hand and seal on this, the first day of June, in the year of Lord one thousand, nine hundred fifty three.

John Giornelli

CLASS PROPHECY

After acting as a Navy nurse for nearly fifteen years, ten of which I spent overseas, I found myself in the hospital as a patient instead of a nurse. As they prepared me for the operating table I began to recall fragments of the accident. We were on our way up to the front line when enemy fire fell upon the ambulance. The next thing that I remember was being carried back to the hospital on a stretcher. From then on my mind was a complete blank, until I felt the anesthesia mask being held over my face and I felt as if I were floating, floating into a land of make-believe, completely free from worry or care. **********

It looks like! Why, I believe it is! The Future! There seem to be so many people about, but none whom I recognize. However, I am positive that this is the same old town of East Greenwich. I think I will stop in at Earnshaw's, one of my old hangouts. Wait-----there is a sign in the window which states that the Class of 1953 is having a reunion at 8:00 P. M. in the Greenwich Inn. Why, I'm just in time to have a visit with my old classmates and see what they have been doing for the last fifteen years.

Robert Anderson is now the foremost Chevrolet dealer in the country. When asked for a comment as to his success, he replied, "See the U. S. A. in your Chevrolet."

A school for prospective bugle players has been established by the famous buglist and conductor of the East Greenwich Band of America, Harry Branch.

Robert Briggs, the well-known cartoonist, has been studying under Walt Disney for the past ten years. Bob now has his own comic book entitled "Elmer Bunny."

Mildred Coon has become the world's most famous typist after breaking all speed and accuracy records. This talent was derived from typing English Literature notes for Miss Zammitti.

An information booth at the United Nations has been established by Margaret Dunn and Barbara Ramm. When asked for a comment of this little stroke of genius, they replied, "We decided to make use of the knowledge acquired at E. G. H. S."

Owen Earnshaw has done nothing but rest and recuperate after being president of the Class of '53 for three years. When asked for a comment, his only reply was, "What do ya' think about that?"

Name it, you can have it, follow it and see what it eats, step on it before it multiplies! What is it? Why, it's Marvin Emery's giant flea circus. This ingenious idea of Marvin's originated through the help of his faithful dog, "Fleabag."

Charles Fiske has organized a chain of "Little Star Super Duper Markets" through the country. Charlie's only comment was, "I owe it all to my experiences at the 'Big Star Market' in East Greenwich."

Raymond Fogarty has become quite well known since the publication of his recent book, "How to Be a Good Kid in 1,000 Easy Lessons." His motto is, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again."

Multi-millionaire John Got-Rocks Giornelli has recently donated an ultra-modern gymnasium to the East Greenwich High School. He also provided new basketball uniforms with jackets and sweat pants. We're hoping the Jay Vees can patch the old Varsity uniforms received in '53.

Kenneth, better known as "Goose," Harris is now owner, manager, coach, player, and scorekeeper of the world-famous basketball team of Greenwich Globe Hoppers.

Kenneth Hart, after many years of hard toil, has become famous for his invention of a skiff which will row, bull rake, and pick over by remote control, while Ken sleeps on the beach. When asked for a comment, he replied, "I feel just as plain."

Grace Howland, a very capable bookkeeper, is presently employed by John Giornelli to keep his financial affairs straight. Incidentally, Grace has her own private plane which aids her in traveling to Mr. Giornelli's four places of residence.

Vance Huling has become manager of Earnshaw's Durg Store. He recently built an addition to his store "For High School Students Only."

Norma Keeler has joined Jackie Herbert and the Country Boys. After many years of hard work Norma has mastered the art of playing the harmonica.

Dennis Magner, better known as "Chief," has installed overstuffed chairs in front of the Fire Station. He has also replaced the nerve-racking siren with a set of chimes.

May Palmer is the well-known proprietress of "Palmer's Chicken Coop," located on Division Road, and is the originator of "New England Fried Chicken." Incidentally all her chickens come from Barbour's Chicken Farm in North Kingston.

Lloyd Proulx is world famous since his invention of a car that travels on land or sea. It also has television and hot and cold running water.

Laurie Satterlee has established a private school for girls in East Greenwich. The name of it is "Miss Satterlee's School For Correct Young Ladies" Her motto is, "Do as I say, not as I do."

Barbara Shadeck has established a rest home on Cape Cod for the tired and aged cheerleaders of East Greenwich High School. Barbie commented, "Rest is really the only thing I ever really wanted in life."

Robert Shaw has recently enlarged the Greenwich Bay in order to make room for his 150 foot yacht, "The Katie B."

Gordon has broken all records in Pro Baseball. Gordie goes under the name of "Speedie" Taylor now.

Joyce Tibbitts, after many long years of study, has become the first woman coach of the Providence College basketball team. We all know Joyce's interest started way back in '52.

The title of "Mr. America of 1968" was recently acquired by Robert Zubee. When asked for a comment he replied, "What are you doing, writing a book?"

The scene seems to be fading slowly away like a heavy fog being lifted, and I find myself in a sunny hospital room. Even it was only a dream, some parts of it may be true. Who knows?

Moving-Up-Day Song

Proudly march the underclassmen
Through the rows they filled last year
Wending upward, rushing onward
Toward the goal each term brings near.

Sadly march the stately Seniors
To the doorway down the stair.
Soon to start another pattern
In the fabric started there.

Chorus

Weaving in and out the rows
Every class now slowly goes
Symbolic of our lives ahead
As the shuttle weaves the thread.
Building fabrics of the life
Strong enough to stand the strife.
Onward, onward, ever on,
Till the cloth of life is done.
