GENERAL INFORMATION.

THIS SEMINARY is located on an eminence in the village of East Greenwich, pleasantly situated on the western shore of Narraganset Bay. The scenery is of unusual beauty, presenting, in part, a view of both shores of the Bay, with intervening sections of continent and islands, covered with cultivated farms and beautiful residences; and, more remotely, various towns and cities in Rhode Island and Massachusetts; while in the rear and on either side are extensive inland views of farms and forests, the whole constituting a landscape rarely equalled for its pleasant influence on the mind of the beholder.

It is easy of access by railroad from every direction, being fourteen miles from Providence, on the direct route between New York and Boston, both by land and by Long Island Sound, via Stonington.

THE PURPOSE of the school is to qualify young persons for the active vocations of society, to prepare them for teaching, or to fit them for college. With these ends in view, the system of instruction adopted is practical and thorough.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission are required to sustain a good moral character; none are retained who do not submit to our wholesome regulations, and those who exert an immoral influence cannot continue with us.

Although students are admitted at any time during the term, we would urge the importance of their entrance at the beginning. Great damage is sustained by us and our patrons, if pupils are allowed to remain at home a few days after the commencement of the term, or to leave a few days before its close. Few things so much incommode Teachers, keep back classes, and disarrange the school. No deduction is made on bills for such absences. It is of the highest importance that students be with us from the very beginning to the very close of the term. Parents should not allow their children to leave the Seminary for trifling causes, and should never permit them to leave until they have written to the Principal. The case must be extraordinary to allow an absence from examination to any student.

☞ Previously engaged rooms will not be reserved for the tardy, unless notice is given of unanticipated detention, and determination to occupy them as soon as may be.

All who enter as day scholars are subject to the same regulations, with respect to studies, attendance and deportment, as the boarders.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The Young Ladies' Graduating Course embraces three years. Diplomas are given to those who complete this course.

The Classical Department affords thorough instruction in the studies required for admission to college. It is designed to prepare young gentlemen to enter any American college or university. For this purpose, all who connect themselves with this department are expected to conform to the prescribed course of study. New classes are formed at the commencement of the Summer and Fall terms; but candidates for advanced standing may enter existing classes at any time.

In the Scientific Department most of the branches are taught which are comprised in the corresponding department of a collegiate course.

The Commercial Department is designed to give a thorough business education. It embraces the Common English branches, Higher Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, Penmanship and Book-keeping.

In Drawing, Painting, Wax Work, the Ornamental branches generally, and Modern Languages, superior advantages for instruction are afforded.

The Department of Music has been re-organized so as to meet fully the demand for a complete course of instruction in Piano and Organ practice, Vocal Music, with cultivation of the Voice, Harmony, and Musical Composition. A large and excellent Organ has been placed in the Seminary, and a number of persons have received instruction in the organist's art during the past year. The instruction in Harmony, or Musical Composition, and Cultivation of the Voice, is believed to be as thorough as is given at any school in the country, in this important art. Two classes in vocal music are organized each term, one for elementary instruction in singing, and the other for practice in the higher style of musical composition. A Diploma is conferred on those who successfully complete the course of musical instruction.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Public religious services, consisting of Scripture reading, Singing and Prayer, are held at the opening and close of each day's duties. All the students are required to be present at these, and to attend two regular services on the Sabbath at such Protestant Church in the Village as they or their friends may choose.

A Bible Class meets each Sabbath, at which all who choose may receive the instruction of a Teacher of the Seminary in the requirements of a pure morality and the great truths of Religion, as taught in the Holy Scriptures, without sectarian bias. Voluntary religious meetings are also held from time to time.

GENERAL EXERCISES.

Exercises in Composition and Declamation are required of the gentlemen, and in composition of all the students.

Examinations at the close of each term.

Public exercises in Declamation, Composition and Music are usually given in the course of each term; Anniversary exercises at the close of the Summer Term.

NORMAL INSTRUCTION.

Much attention is given to the Common English branches and those which are specially called into requisition by the teachers of Common Schools. Special instruction is given from time to time, without extra charge, in preparation for the teacher's office. A Normal Class is formed for this purpose in the Fall Term

Large numbers of students go from the Seminary to teach. The Principal will give prompt attention to applications for teachers.

LIBRARY, APPARATUS AND MUSEUM.

The Seminary Library contains fourteen hundred volumes of popular and useful books, including the documents of the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses, deposited by the Hon. Wm. D. Brayton, to all which the students have access by the payment of a small fee.

The Scientific Department is provided with Apparatus for illustration, sufficient to meet the wants of any institution of the kind.

The Museum and Cabinet amply illustrates the history, habits and costumes of various nations, the scientific treasures of the ocean and the striking revelations of Geology.

SOCIETIES AND READING ROOM.

The students have three efficient Literary Societies—the ladies one and the gentlemen two—which hold stated meetings for discussions and other literary exercises. Meetings of the societies may not continue later than half-past nine o'clock, P. M., without permission.

A large and well conducted Reading Room, sustained by teachers and students, is supplied with the most valuable and popular papers and periodicals from various portions of the country.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The intercourse of the students with each other and with the Faculty, is expected to conform to the courtesies and proprieties of good society. Their admission to the school and enjoyment of its privileges, imply a sacred contract on their part, promptly to observe its regulations. The government of the Seminary is mild, yet firm and decided.

A daily record is kept, showing the attendance, conduct and recitations of each student.

Students will not take less than three nor more than four studies, at the same time, without special permission. They are expected to retire and extinguish their lights by ten o'clock in the evening.

☞ Every articie for the wash should be distinctly marked with the owner's full name, written with indelible ink.

Teachers and students occupy the same buildings and sit at the same tables. Some students board themselves and thus diminish their expenses. Some board in private families. This course has no advantage sufficient to compensate for the disadvantage of being absent from the incentives and impulses of student life, the assistance and watchcare of Teachers, which can be enjoyed to their full extent by those only who board at the Seminary.

This Seminary enjoys a peculiar advantage in the mode of lighting and warming the buildings, Gas being employed for the former and Steam for the latter purpose, each of which is specially safe, convenient and healthful.

TO PATRONS.

Students should be allowed very little money except for actual expenses. Spending money is ruinous to scholarship and habits. Especially should they not be permitted to keep with them money to any amount. The loss of it, which will occasionally happen where numbers are gathered together, is an inconvenience to the loser, and tends to bring the school into discredit. If deposited at the Office, the Trustees are responsible for it.

FEMALE DEPARTMENT.

The deportment and social relations of the young ladies are under the immediate supervision of an experienced Preceptress.

The Government of the Institution recognizes the wishes of most patrons with respect to restricted intercourse between the two Departments. Only so much of social intercourse as necessarily grows out of their moral and intellectual relations can generally be allowed ; and liberty of association between Ladies and Gentlemen in walking, or visiting together, occurs only on permission. In this way, the security which parents wish for their daughters is attained, without a loss of the many advantages of associated education.

Those students who desire, meet for systematic exercise in calisthenics, under the direction of one of the teachers. Marked improvement in health is believed to have resulted already from this recent arrangement.
