Class History

EAST GREENWICH HIGH 1951

One Wednesday not so long ago,
'Twas nineteen hundred forty-eight,
Some boys and girls we're proud to know
Remember well that thrilling date.

'Twas then, the grammar grades behind,
We viewed with awe East Greenwich High.
Confused as timid Freshmen then;
Just look today what meets your eye.

Charles Congdon we named President,
Dorris MacDonald as Vice Assisted,
While Betty Van Olinda penned
The class doings that should be listed.

And Jakey Murray—honest Jake—
Took care of our finacial state.
Our Treasury, so meager then,
Has much improved at present date.

Though we were inexperienced,
'Tis fun today to look behind,
Note, social graces we acquired.
Our harvest Hop first comes to mind.

We measured our success in fun,
With cider served instead of pop,
Since profit netted sixty cents,
We would not call our hop a flop.

Time hurried on, and we grew wise
In English, math, and science too,
With minds and manners much improved,
We felt a picnic was our due.

So to cement the friendly bond
That bound the class of Fifty-One,
We chose a day for picnicking,
Lake Mishnock proved a spot for fun.

The summer sped, again we met,
As Sophomores now, for more study.
Older and wiser we plugged on,
With minds less muddled and muddy.

Our Sweetheart was beautiful,
With Betty Van Olinda Queen
While Dorris MacDonald and Mary Petrunt
Lent glamour to the Queen's Court scene.

Congdon again was President
And Tommy Storey this time Vice,
And Secretary, Bill Hathaway,
And Treasurer, John Botelho, worked nice.

The year's end found us picnicking
At last year's favored happy spot,
With roller skates and swimming suits
At long remembered Lake Mishnock.

Officers for Junior Year,
Were Deborah Sullivan, President,
While Charles Condgon this year was Vice
But everywhere most evident.

Marilynne Rice our records kept,
Secretary, most competent,
While Dorris MacDonald collected dues
And any class fees relevant.

A few weeks after school began,
Class members voiced their wise selection
Of some to choose class rings for us—
Denoting bold aims at perfection.

To pull our class out of the red
We ventured on a selling spree.
Funds from taking the School Census
Filled our Treasurer's heart with glee.

Our Junior Prom was elegant
In spite of the Old Swift Gym Floor
Decorations so glamorous
'Twas Fairy Land inside the door.

Our annual June class picnic
We held at the Warwick Neck home
Of new Class Advisor, Mrs. Bentsen.
We found that it was fun to roam.

We're grateful to Mrs. Bentsen
In a memory that does not pall
Of hot dogs, watermelon, and swimming
And a Rocky Point frolic for all.

September came, as summer fled,
And we as lofty seniors reigned.
East Greenwich High had taught us poise,
And oh! the dignity we deigned.

A Welcome Dance for freshmen and
An underclassmen Field Day too
We sponsored, hoping thus to show,
Our underclassmen what to do.

The cap and gown we donned this year.
Our Class Book worked readily.
We know you'll hold the year book dear
And note improvement steadily.

Class officers for the final year
Found Barbara Kiernan, President,
While Mignon Harrington was Vice,
Not Vice-Queen, but Vice-President.

And Debby Sullivan class records kept;
While Dorris MacDonald our funds retained.
And after all our bills were paid,
We used for a school gift what remained.

For while we've had our share of fun
In sports and plays and classrooms, too,
We've learned a lot at East Greenwich High
And so we think a gift is due.

Our Superintendent, Archie Cole,
We'll ever hold in high esteem.
And hope Refus Brackley, Principal,
Will know that we have caught the gleam.

For leading most successful lives,
Which teachers have so well imparted,
For Nicholas Stowell, special thanks,
For guiding us in getting started.

Our Christmas Dance and banquet fun
Are senior memories to be treasured.
The friendships formed in these four years
Will through the years mean wealth unmeasured.

Ruth Proulx—Wills her sweet little smile to Millie Coon. Come on Mildred, smile!

Marilynne Rice—Leaves her strong weakness for crew-cuts, especially blonde ones, to Shirley Bourbeau!

Ellen Roberts——Wills her interest in 4-H to Germaine deLisle. I hear that there are a couple of fellows mixed up in this interest. Is that true, Germaine?

Muriel Ross—Wills to Shirley Kettelle a pencil sharpener so she won't have to keep borrowing one with a sharp point.

Buddy Tibbetts—Wills his dog to Gail Trudell.

Ardsive Torkomian—Wills her artistic ability to Gail Trundell. Not that she needs it.

Dotty Rogers—Wills a comb to Gyppy Pickells, to rake the animals off her tresses, and the dandruff off her dresses.

Deborah Sullivan—Bequeaths a baseball bat to Shirley Bourbeau to help beat off the boys in homeroom, as Debby has had to do. Good luck, Shirley, you'll need it! !

Ed Tetley—Wills his talent for expressing himself with his hands and his poses to David Foster. Keep them flying, David!

Betty Van Olinda—For the sake of tradition wills to Vincent Lallo her title of "Fatigue" and is glad to be rid of it. And she also passes on her driver's license and nickname "Leadfoot" to Judy Boteler with the hope that she will scare as many men drivers as her benefactress has.

Ralph Wiendel—Wills his slow quiet manners to Walter Mather. Slow down, Walter, you don't want to lose weight.

Ray Wesson—Wills his smooth way with the girls to Johnny Giornelli. Carry on Johnny!

Fred Zubee—Wills his outstanding athletic ability and his favorite spot at Skunk Hollow to Bob Zubee.

To the Juniors we will a goodly share of our brains and personality, the many exciting events in the course of our four years and also Senior Privileges.

To the Sophomores we will a successful Junior Prom that can be second only to Class of 1951.

To the Freshmen we will a transfer of our many pages of homework and our many hours of hard study with admonition that work never hurt man.

To the Eighth Graders we will the title of full-fledged Freshmen and successful years to come.

To the Faculty we will another class to come, just like our class, so that you will never forget us. We leave with you a bottle of aspirins to help you out.

And so, in witness thereof, we have hereunto set our hands and seal to this, The Last Will And Testament of the Class of 1951 on the 1st day of June in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and fifty-one.

Class Prophecy

With aching feet and throbbing head, I deposited my weary bones upon the nearest chair and gently placed my size thirteens upon my battered old bag. This is the price one must pay for a successful play and a world tour.

My gaze wandered around the room I had taken at the "Leak Inn" owned and operated by the hotel maggot, oops!, we mean magnate, Charles E. Congdon. This fabulous inn received its name from its illustrious roof.

Sighting a sticker on my trunk between my right corn and left bunion, I discovered it to be from London. While there, we gave a command performance. At the reception I curtsied before Princess Margaret Rose's husband, better known as Duke Raymond Wesson of Romancealot. At the reception we met Mary Petrunt, secretary to the aforementioned Duke. Her outstanding abilities in the secretarial field have obtained for her this much vied-for position.

After our triumphant stay in London we traveled to gay Paree! We toured the town and at last came to Pigalle. While there, we went to the famous nite club, "La Bonne Chance", which is owned and operated by our old friend, Bud Tibbetts. His motto is "you bring the dough, we supply the show." Sitting across from us, sipping horses' necks, were the co-authors of the best seller, Forever Ambrosia, Miriam Brayton and Grace Kenyon.

The next day of our stay in Paree we traveled to the Riviera to see Debbee La Sullivan modeling one of Jacques Faths' original bathing suits. Also watching the show was Princess Dorris MacDonald Khan, the retired operatic star.

As we passed the Eiffel Tower I was not sure if there actually was a man up there or if what appeared to be a man was just part of the structure. I took out my binoculars, looked up and—why it was Jake Murray, who also had a set of binoculars, in the Eiffel Tower, getting an eye-full.

The next stop on our tour was Madrid where we saw the bullfights. A young blond fellow in red tights marched into the center of the ring followed by Mike "the Masher" Malvinni, the sensational toreador. There was something very familiar about the blond gentleman—his red face. I scrutinized him carefully and discovered that he was Walter Lofgren. Mike, who always was very capable in the bull-throwing field, used Walter to goad the attacking bull instead of a red cape! !

From Madrid we traveled to that ever exciting city of the seven hills—Rome. There we learned that Marie Peretta, newest protege of Director Roberto Rosellini was co-starring with Farly Granger in a collosal million dollar epic. Also famous in the theatrical world is Eduardo Tetley, Italy's answer to Arthur Godfrey.

After our much lauded stay in Rome we remorsefully set sail for the mysterious land of Egypt. Startling news was being made in this far off place by none other than Professor Fenwick Pallazo who had just discovered the diary of Cleopatra. Publisher Ralph Weindel is trying to get Fenwick's permission to publish this masterpiece. Ralph became famous when he wrote that famous thesis called Weindel's Way With Women. Incidentally, Ralph published the famous sequel to Cheaper By the Dozen, The More The Merrier, by Mrs. Paul Bentsen.

When, at last, we left the country we took a huge luxury liner named after philanthropist, Herbert Jones. Mr. Jones made his billions in the field of ivory. Ah, yes! his undetectable loaded dice are used all over the world.

I was very surprised as we boarded the good ship Bubba to be greeted by a very charming blonde hostess, Joyce Almquist. I learned from Joyce that some old friends were on board. Among them was the retired flying ace, Ernest Lein. He always did have a tendency to fly—even in a car. At dinner we were entertained by William Hathaway's Harem of Dancing Dolls. The stars of his troop, Joan Malm and Ruth Proulx, informed me that they were on their way to play before Sheik Ray-Ben-Around-Harrington, owner of Saudi Arabia's oil rights.

We docked at Peiping, China, where Robert "the Rover" Anderson was peeping in keyholes trying to recover the lost jewels of Miss JoAnne Gorman, eminent editor of Vogue.

We took the scenic route to Tibet and hired as guides Dot "Slipalong Casualty" Rogers and Bernice "the Lemondrop Kid" Arnold. We felt quite safe in their capable hands.

In Tibet we met Janice Nicholavich, world famous ballerina, who was starring at the local theater. Janice, who studied under Lower-Slobovian prima-ballerina, Lopya-Hadoff, said her only complaint was that she found it difficult to find co-stars.

We hopped a plane from Tibet to M. I. T. Cold, a small air base in upper Alaska. The first sight that greeted us when we landed was a huge neon sign ascertaining that this territory belonged to the "Up-North" fur company of Lorraine Northrup. Lorraine hunts polar bears and sells them to Mr. Nichols Stowell, the famed furrier, and creator of "little stoles."

We went home via dog sled which gave me time to catch up on some of the local news. It seemed that another local boy has made good. Doodie Jones had recently been elected President of the United States on the Parasite ticket. His platform had been--no work for anyone—(especially himself). His first official act was to appoint Virginia Cruickshank and Marion Crompton as chiefs of the "Lift The Troops Morale Staff". Another local boy has done even better, Jumbo Zubee has the enviable position of football coach at Radcliffe! We also learned that Barbara Kiernan is Dean of Men at R. I. State College. She always was very capable of handling college men. It has been said that her's is the most popular administration in the history of the college and the enrollment has increased by fifty per cent.

I discovered that Betty Van Olinda, who made her millions investing in gas stations, is running a charitable institution with Mignon Harrington, called Van Olinda and Harrington's Haven for Heartbroken He-Men. The girls' motto is "Charity Begins at Home."

Now I am in my hotel room still catching up on the news. I am reading my favorite gossip column written by my old friend, Marilynne Rice. Her pen name is Lucretia Borgia. Marilyn has put Hedda Hopper, Walter Winchell, Jimmy Fiddler, and Joe Petty out of business.

Marilynne says that Ellen "Rampaging" Roberts and M-u-u-url "Reckless" Ross are competing for the women's championship for Stock Car Racing.

Well my goodness! ! It says that there is an art exhibition on T.V. about now between Lia "The Impressionist" Malvinni and Ardsive "The Cubist" Torkomian, the outstanding artists of this era.

I think I'll switch on the T.V. Instead of the art exhibition a serial called At Home With Dick and Dagmar seems to be on. It can't be! ! Richard Cevolli is being embraced by Dagmar. That tour was too much for my nerves.————This is the end! ! !

A Golden Rule
Go, set the seal of sweetness
Upon your lips today,

Go, crown as God with roses,
The thorns around your way;
His Heart of Love reflecting
In every thought, word, tone:

Go, veil the faults of others,
And God will hide your own.
