STAND UP & CHEER

THE CLASS OF '63 presents

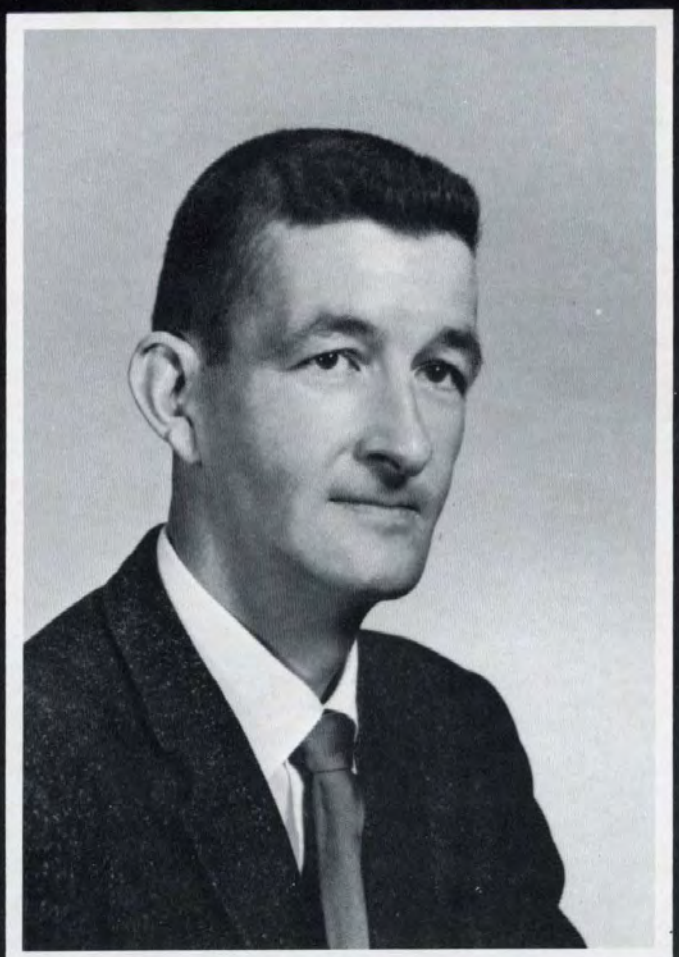

THE CRIMSON

FOREWORD

The members of the class of 1963 regard their high school career as a doorway to the future. All the sorrows and joys, the failures and successes that were a part of it have molded a group of individuals worthy of being recognized as a part of a complex adult society. We are grateful for the opportunity we were given to learn through skillful instruction the necessary facts and figures which will enable us to make our way in the professional world. We are no less grateful for the experience gained in organization, responsibilty, democratic procedures and discipline which will make us capable of finding a place in society. Since this yearbook is intended primarily to perpetuate memories of our high school life, we do hereby publish this, the CRIMSON '63, to insure a clear recollection of our high school years.

Short cheer.. YEH
LONG cheer, YEHHHHH!!!! dedication,

Rarely does a younger person find in an adult such a loyal friend as each of us has found in Mr. Hand. From the time the Class of 1963 and Mr. Hand arrived at East Greenwich High School together, he, as our advisor, has been a guardian and mentor.

On any and all of our many ventures, Mr. Hand has offered his enthusiasm and aid, in addition to his gentle chiding when necessary. He has always given unstintingly of himself.

Over the years, Mr. Hand, our gratitude to a magnificent person will remain constant. With many thanks and a great sense of devotion, we dedicate the CRIMSON '63 to you.

APPRECIATION

Words can but feebly express the deep and sincere appreciation we feel for our superb dramatist, teacher extraordinaire, and close confidant: Michael A. Romano. Wise in his words, and dynamic in his deeds, he has inspired us with his warmth and enthusiasm from Harvest Hop to perfect prom, his sparkling wit adorning all our efforts from ancient Greek drama to sophisticated modern comedy. Like a golden thread running through the pattern of our lives, he has made each of us shine with a little of his own glow. To us, the East Greenwich Avengers, "he is a perfect, gentle knight." We now present to you, Mr. Romano, the second copy of the CRIMSON '63.

Seated: Joseph Zaino and Ingrid Sandvik; Standing (l to r): Gus Zenga, Arthur Gould, E. Paul Moscatelli, Matthew Franzone, and Orlando Malveto.

SPECIAL APPRECIATION

Although it is not the usual procedure to single out a recipient of the third copy of the CRIMSON, we of the Class of 1963 would like to express our special thanks to the Italo-American Club of East Greenwich. This local organization has taken an unusually active interest in our Foreign Student Program and has done much to help us make it financially possible. Without the assistance of the entire club, we could not have had our first foreign student in school with us during our senior year. Thus it is with our deep appreciation that we present this copy to the president of the Italo-American Club, on behalf of our school and our class.

2, 4, 6, 8, who(m) do we appreciate?

As individuals you have shown capabilities in mastering the fundamentals as well as a cognizance of scientific phenomena and mechanical principles. My sincere hope is that you have also learned that a free way of life needs to be perpetuated through honest and intelligent decisions and through the maintenance of the laws. The spirit as well as the privileges of a democracy must be learned.

ARCHIE R. COLE
Superintendent

To the members of the Class of 1963:

Graduation from high school must not be considered as an end of education for any of you. I urge each of you to consider the exercises which take place to signal the completion of high school as commencement exercises. No person can acquire in high school all the knowledge needed in today's increasingly complicated society.

Self-improvement and self-education are of great importance to those of you who will not find it possible to continue your formal education.

HISTORY - CLASS OF '63

Seniors were seniors for one priceless year and now that year had ended. Our graduation from East Greenwich High School brought to a close the many friendships and carefree activities so characteristic of our youth. The four years of high school which passed so quickly provided many rich and rewarding experiences and the accomplishments of that short span of time are now remembered with a true feeling of achievement.

September 1958, opened for the class of 1963 the doors leading to a new and exciting way of life. Amid the first-week confusion over schedules, lunches, and rooms, we "little eighth-graders" began our adjustment to the unique problems of high school. We entered into a fascinating new social life and were filled with school spirit and pride. Soon the school had settled back to normalcy and our class began to organize. When, at last, we had our chance to prepare on our own a major social event, we followed the trend to space and created the SATELLITE BALL. With miniature "Sputniks" filling the air, we successfully brought to a close our first year at East Greenwich High School.

Smiling and reminiscing over summer fun, the class of 1963 returned to E.G.H.S. Still the youngest members of the student body, we enthusiastically entered into the many extracurricular activities now open to us. At last we had begun to feel a part of the school. We had selected our class leaders and turned our thoughts at once to our forthcoming dance. The HARVEST HOP lent an air of gaiety to the autumn season as the students informally socialized among pumpkins and cornstalks. Our freshman year meant the planning of our courses of study as we all looked ahead to that graduation night.

Filled with great anticipation, the sophomore class entered into school life as an established segment of the student body. We began to assume minor leadership roles in the numerous clubs and organizations, and we did our best to promote enthusiastic participation within them. With renewed vigor, we attacked our studies for we had come closer to the full realization of the importance of maintaining high academic records. As planning sessions for our Sweetheart Dance got under way, we all agreed that ours must be the epitome of perfection. Abandoning the traditional red and white valentine, the class of 1963 amazed the upper-classmen with the sophisticated LAVENDER BLUE. Moving-Up Day took on a new significance for the class as we proudly assumed our ranking as "Upper-classmen."

With the dignity of our new position, the class of 1963 returned to East Greenwich High School as leaders. From the very outset of the school year, our attention was focused mainly on the activities which spring would bring. Sidetracked only momentarily by plays, athletics, and the long-awaited class rings, plans moved steadily along toward that night in May. Ivy Day meant the donning of white dresses as the girls proudly bore the traditional Ivy Chain through which the stately seniors passed. That same night the school danced in the soft blue and green light of our beautiful EBB TIDE. A week later we were officially granted the title of The Senior Class of East Greenwich High School.

In September 1962 the class re-entered the doors which four years ago seemed so strange. With a bit of regret we took our places at the head of the Student Council, athletic teams, and the organizations of the school. Fund raising became an important item of business as we prepared for the accumulation of expenses which would come at the end of the year. The yearbook staff worked with frenzied diligence to insure the completion of the CRIMSON '63. With the fulfillment of the goal of the Foreign Student Committee during our senior year, the class determined that new goals should be set and reached and gave its support to the Student Council for this purpose. Fall came to a rapid end and the month of December meant planning for our last dance. The silver and blue set the atmosphere for the lovely SILENT NIGHT. Measurement for robes brought graduation that much closer as we grasped the last fleeting moments of our high school life. As we marched between the ivy to the regal "Pomp and Circumstance", we saw in the faces of our classmates the warm glow of achievement and success. On Moving-Up Day we said our last formal farewell to the teachers and fellow students who had been an integral part of our lives. Graduation night was alive with excitement and anticipation. As we stepped forward for our diplomas, we put an end to our high school years, for the boys and girls of the Class of '63 had become men and women.

STUDENT COUNCIL

A good student government is essential to a well-balanced school community. The Student Council of East Greenwich High School strives to co-ordinate the many facets of student life. It acts as the voice of the student body in establishing and preserving the standards and ideals necessary to healthy productive growth of the student as well as the school. Guided by President Sally Sargeant and Mrs. Anthony Roderick, advisor, it is the unifying group which endeavors to sustain true cooperation between the administration and the students. Sally is aided by officers James Crothers, Vice President; Katherine Kennedy, Secretary; and Robert McMahon, Treasurer.

plans, works, succeeds!!

Last year the Student Council, the student body, and the entire town combined their efforts to raise the necessary funds to bring Ingrid Kristine Sandvik from her home in Sauda, Norway, to the United States for a year. She has stayed with the John Morrissey family during the past months and has been an active part of our school life. We sincerely hope that Ingrid will return to her homeland with fond memories, for she has left a touch of Norway with us.

INGRID

KABUKI DRAMA

Under the skillful direction of Mr. Michael Romano, the Dramatic Club of East Greenwich High School has come to be more than an association devoted to the annual presentation of a play. Its numerous devotees have broadened their cultural background and have gained a greater appreciation of the fine arts. A mark of this organization is its departure from the commonplace. Such unusual attempts have been Molière, Aristophanes, and most recently Japanese Kabuki. These plays have received great acclaim throughout New England, not only because they are unusually ambitious for high school productions, but because they display great enthusiasm on the part of the students for their work, a spark which they have been able to transmit to their audiences. Officers elected by the members to coodinate club activities are Philip Tabor, President; Kevin Dunphy, Vice President; Nicole Petrillo, Secretary; and Stewart Goddin, Treasurer.

ART CLUB

The Art Club was formed to give young people with artistic ability the opportunity to experiment with various methods of drawing and painting. Members apply newly-gained knowledge and perfect their techniques under the watchful eye of Miss Kathleen Byrnes. Officers elected to serve the members of the club are: Ardis Briggs, President; James Crothers, Vice President; Carolyn Carlson, Secretary; and Douglas Kenyon, Treasurer.

SCIENCE CLUB

A student truly gifted with scientific ability and interest often finds the four hours a week in a science class inadequate. With the helpful hand of Mr. Thomas Behan and the aid of the officers, President Philip Tabor, Vice President Richard Byrd, Secretary Robert Hadfield and Treasurer James Kovac, the Science Club provides an opportunity for such a student to probe into the mysteries of molecules, fission, and amoeba. It offers true pleasure to those who enjoy viewing our planet a bit closer. The membership is unique in its common bond of great interest in a singularly fascinating world.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

More and better teachers are constantly needed in the United States. Such societies as the Future Teachers of America give the high school student who is undecided regarding his future a chance to further explore the field of education.

This is the first year that the Future Teachers of America has been in existence at East Greenwich High School. Without a doubt, it has guided many in their choice of careers and will aid others in the future. Planning the programs for the club are President Beverly Walters, Vice President Constance Walters, Secretary Jane Solomon, Treasurer Marjorie Craig, and Mr. James Dyer, advisor.

DEBATING TEAM

In every student body there are those with facile minds and still more facile tongues. Such are the members of the Debating Team, who present sound arguments on many current issues. The preparation for these diversified topics leads the individual to study an issue thoroughly. An organization like this trains one to think logically and to present one's views clearly and forcibly. This year the Debating Team is under the direction of Mr. Randolph Romano.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

THE AVENGER

A school paper is a record of all student activity. The Avenger handles the responsibility of reporting clearly and without bias all school news. With each year, new features and columns are added, each an advancement in journalistic accomplishment on the high school level. Judy Maynard shoulders the editorial duties of getting the paper into type with assistance from Mrs. Milton Long.

YOUNG RHODE ISLAND REPORTER

The Young Rhode Island Section of the Providence Journal-Bulletin was formed to present to the public an informative and unbiased report on the activities of the state's high schools and their members. For three years, Sally Sargeant has written this weekly column, assisted until this year by Katherine Kennedy. East Greenwich has been well represented by its Young Rhode Island Reporters.

publicity

WYNG STAFF

Local high school news has taken to the airwaves. Via station WYNG, East Greenwich residents and those of surrounding communities are able to listen to reports of the doings at East Greenwich High School. Two members of the WYNG staff meet with Mrs. Sanford Hammond on Tuesday of each week to prepare material for the broadcast. These students gain experience not only in vocal techniques, but in the art of radio journalism.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country came to East Greenwich High School for the first time this year when Coach Louis Lepry organized a team of harriers. As indicated by the scores on the preceding page, the team had a fantastic first season—undefeated in all dual meets. Captained by seniors Robert Bostick and Kevin Dunphy, the team also ran in the Columbus Day Road Race, finished 9th, and then came in 5th in the Bruton Race at Warwick. At the end of the season the East Greenwich team competed in the State Championship and finished 10th. Junior William McGovern, undefeated in dual meets, placed third in the state meet and competed in the New England contest at the University of Maine.

In cooperation with the cheerleaders, the members of the Pep Club provide spirit, good-natured fury, and noise for all sports events. To promote student support, the Club annually sells items such as pins or pennants, all imprinted with Avenger symbols. To further engender spirit, the Club sees to it that the school bristles with victory posters and slogans prior to athletic contests. All projects are carried out under the leadership of President Irene Prefontaine, Vice President Anne LeBeau, Secretary Kathleen Belcher, and Treasurer Meredith Morrissey, assisted by advisor Mrs. Peter Harley.
